Stassen Predicts GOP Will Decide on Herter

'GOOD LUCK TO YOU BOY'—That's what Marine Corps Commandant Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, right, told S/Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, left, when he met him for the first time at Parris Island, S. C. (Aug. 1). The general testified (Aug. 1) in court martial of McKeon, who is charged with deaths of six Marine recruits who drowned when he led platoon 71 into waters of Ribbon Creek. (AP Wirephoto)

Puller Thinks Corps Regrets Trial Move

Parris Island, S. C., Aug. 2 (AP) —A crusty, bemedaled Marine hero, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller, said today he thought the Marine corps "regrets" the court-martial of S. Sgt Matthew C. McKeon.

In a voice like a fog horn, the general told the seven-man court-martial panel, "I think from the testimony of Gen. Pate yesterday that he agrees and regrets that the Marine Corps ever ordered that this man be tried."

The Marines' commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, told the court yesterday he thought McKeon merited only a reduction in rank and a transfer.

McKeon is the former drill instructor who led a platoon of 74 recruits on a night disciplinary march into a tidal marsh where six drowned.

As a result, McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

Puller, chest ablaze with eight rows of ribbons, appeared as an expert on Marine training methods at the trial of the 31-year-old native of Worcester, Mass.

Immediately after Puller's testimony, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York city said, "the defense rests."

The only Marine ever to hold five Navy Crosses and an Army Distinguished Service Cross, Puller spoke in his normal battlefield voice. For his testimony the microphones were turned off.

Earlier, the high-domed hero was asked by Berman whether he thought the night march led by McKeon was good military practice, "apart from the results."

The general replied:

"In my opinion, the reason American soldiers made out so poorly in Korea was mostly due to lack of night training. If we are going to win the next war, in my opinion, 50 per cent of the training time should be allotted to night training."

Berman asked, "do I take it you consider the march good?"

Said Puller, "good."

The slightly built man with the beer-keg chest outlined his military career as a Marine which, as he said, began "37 years, four months and two days" ago.

Puller, who began dodging enemy lead first in Haiti and Nicaragua, said he once had been stationed at Parris Island as an enlisted man. That was in 1918.

Berman asked him what he had learned as a recruit in those days.

Puller crossed his legs, reared

Man, 109, Last Union Veteran of Civil War, Dies

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 2 (AP) — Albert Woolson, last Union Army veteran of the Civil War, died today and the Grand Army of the Republic died with him. He was 109.

The old drummer boy who was "scared to death" the first time he fired a cannon outlived some 2,675,000 of the boys in Blue.

Woolson died in St. Luke's Hospital where he had been confined several times recently because of lung congestion. Doctors said the congestion was brought on chiefly because of his advanced age.

He lapsed into a coma early Saturday. Since then he had been fed intravenously and had been given oxygen through a nasal tube.

The old soldier showed remarkable stamina in recovering from his previous illnesses. Dr. Charles Bagley, his physician, said after Woolson showed good improvement in June that his "deep seated interest and drive" kept him going.

Hospitalized in May, Woolson spent Memorial Day at his Duluth home, then returned to St. Luke's the following day. He had been confined since.

Woolson was 17 when he became a volunteer private in company "C" of the First Minnesota heavy artillery regiment as President Lincoln was making heavy calls for more troops.

Matthews Is Leader for Eisenhower

Attorney S. James Matthews, of 95 Harding avenue, has been appointed Ulster county chairman of the Youth for Eisenhower organization, it was announced today by C. Robert Ogden, New York city attorney and state chairman.

UNDER HIS leadership, the Ulster county group will strive to achieve the maximum results toward an Eisenhower victory in the forthcoming national election. A letter has been sent to all Republican committeemen requesting their support in enlisting young people in the Youth for Eisenhower movement.

Mr. Matthews, a native Kingstonian, attended School No. 7 and was graduated from Kingston High School. He attended the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse and was graduated from Albany Law School. In 1952 he was admitted to the Bar and since that time has maintained his law offices in this city.

DURING Mr. Matthew's law school days, he was on the legislative staff of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who was chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and later Senate majority leader. At the present time, in addition to his private practice, he is research counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment and is local attorney for the Farmers Home Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Matthews has been very active in the civic affairs of the community, having been chairman of the Salvation Army Drive in 1954, chairman of the Heart Fund campaign in 1955 and 1956 and a member of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association.

IN ADDITION to his other activities, Mr. Matthews is vice-president of the Kingston Mendelssohn Club and a director of the New York State Conservation Council. He is a Rotarian and an officer in the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard.

Because of his keen interest in young people, Mr. Matthews was chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York, for the post of political director of Empire Girls' State this year. This group, consisting of outstanding students in their junior year in high school, attended a nine-day session at Skidmoré College under the direction of Mr. Matthews, who gave them an intensified course in government.

Mr. Matthews is a member of the Fair Street Reformed

ABC Discussion Called Monday, Not Tuesday

The meeting of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers' Association, Inc., will be held at The Barn on Monday, August 6, not on Tuesday as previously announced.

At the meeting, called for 2:30 o'clock, the new Alcoholic Beverage Control Board ruling closing bars and tap rooms at 1 a. m. beginning October 1, will be the topic under discussion.

The meeting has been called by George Broome, president of the association, and all members of the group are asked to attend. The position of the association will be thoroughly discussed and the result of the conference will be submitted to the ABC board..

Feels Ike Statement Will Help

Committee Heads Condemn Action

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen opened an "Ike and Chris" headquarters today. Even as he did, the heads of the Republican Senate and House campaign committees loosed a blast at what they termed Stassen's "irresponsible actions."

Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kan) and Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) contended in a joint statement that Stassen is wrong in his argument that Vice President Nixon would cost the Republicans votes if renominated and should be replaced on the GOP ticket by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

"THE LOSS of Vice President Nixon on the Republican ticket will cost our party many millions of votes," Schoeppel and Simpson said. The committees they head are concerned primarily with trying to elect Republicans to the Senate and House.

Stassen was beginning a four weeks leave from his post as President Eisenhower's disarmament advisor.

In a statement, he predicted that by convention time—now 18 days away—the Republicans will come to the view that Herter would be the strongest running mate for President Eisenhower's second term bid.

STASSEN SAID previous declarations of the Republican delegates in favor of Nixon were made "under somewhat of a misconception."

In the light of President Eisenhower's statement yesterday in favor of an "open" convention, Stassen added, he assumes the delegates "will all now take a new look and do it carefully, listening to the American people during the next three weeks."

Stassen opened his "Ike and Chris" headquarters in a vacant store next to headquarters of the District of Columbia "Citizens for Eisenhower." The citizens appeared rather bewildered by their new neighbor.

THE HEADQUARTERS is staffed by college age volunteers. The only salaried employe is Stassen's personal secretary, Mrs. Mildred J. Coleman. She, like Stassen, has taken a leave from the government service for the duration of the pro-Herter campaign.

Stassen stood by as a big "Eisenhower-Herter" sign was hoisted into place over the doorway and the office manager, Brooks Baker, 22, of Washington, a student at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., cut a red ribbon stretched across the door.

There were pictures of Eisenhower and Herter on all sides.

THE SKETCHILY furnished office was opened so hastily that

Notch Road Rebuilding Is Underway

Work on the much publicized Notch Road between the Ulster-Greene county line through Lanesville and notheastward to Edgewood is finally underway.

Officially work was started on July 16 by the Rock Construction Company of Sunset Park although considerable preliminary work had been done prior to that time following the signing of the contract on June 25.

The Notch Road broke into the public eye some time ago when residents along the route refused to send their children to school because of the dangerous condition of the road.

In an effort to compel the state to reconstruct the route the "strike" by parents was instituted and drew wide publicity. Visits were also made to Albany by delegations in an effort to speed state activity and get the road advertised for bid.

A further delay was encountered when bids were finally sought in April and no bids were received. The contract was readvertised and early in June the Rock Construction Corporation submitted a low bid of $757,886.60. The road is designated as Route 214 and the contract is for 3.98 miles.

The existing 16-foot roadway will be straightened and widened to 20 feet and surfaced with a new bituminous macadam top. Alignment will be improved and grades reduced. Three new bridges will be provided.

Much of the clearing of the alignment of trees, where curves are being eliminated, has already

New Benefits Given Women, Disabled

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP) — Women between the ages of 62 and 65 and an estimated 340,000 disabled persons 50 and over were made eligible for new social security benefits yesterday.

President Eisenhower signed, with some expressed reservations, a bill to lower the retirement age for women and to set up for the first time a system of federal payments to workers totally and permanently disabled at age 50 and above.

The new benefits for women will be reflected in December checks. An estimated 200,000 widows will become eligible for full benefits at 62. Working women and wives of retired workers may elect to draw somewhat reduced benefits at 62 or wait for full benefits at 65. Officials have estimated that about 300,000 in each category will choose the lowered retirement age.

Benefits for the disabled, estimated to average $75 monthly, will not begin until July 1957. To be eligible for payments, a worker must have been disabled for a least three months and meet strict medical tests.

Eisenhower did not mention it, but these two provisions were sponsored by Democrats in Congress and were met with what the President called "serious reservations in their initial form." Both were modified, Eisenhower noted, "and now meet, in part, some of the administration's objections."

He expressed hope that lowering the women's retirement age will not in turn make employers reluctant to hire older women.

To pay for the new benefits, social security taxes will go up next Jan. 1 but, as Eisenhower noted with pleasure, only half as much as was originally proposed.

The tax, levied on the first $4,200 of a worker's annual earnings, will go up from the present 2 to 2¼ per cent on both workers and employers. The self-employed, now paying 3 per cent, will pay 3⅜ per cent.

Another provision of the new law, which the administration supported, blankets into the social security system an estimated 225,000 persons not heretofore included.

They include lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, optometrists and some related professions but not physicians—the only major group other than government workers not now covered.

Another new provision authorizes a number of states to bring under social security various local government employes such as policemen and firemen.

Another boosts by 146 million dollars a year grants to states for needy persons. This is expected to mean about $3 or $4 a month more for the needy aged, blind and disabled and about $2 monthly additional for dependent children.

Milk Report Not Dictated, Says Economy Witness

New York, Aug. 2 (AP) — Dr. C. W. Pierce, professor at Pennsylvania State College, has stated at a milk hearing that a recent report he made on marketing orders contained no implication on influence by organized political groups or parties.

The hearing on milk pricing policies continues today. It is being conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the New York State Department of Agriculture and the New York milk office.

Pierce, professor of agricultural economics, recently made a statement favoring a separate milk marketing order for northern New Jersey.

He was cross-examined about the statement yesterday by attorney Sydney C. Winton, who represents the Milk Dealers Assn. of metropolitan New York, Sheffield Farms and 18 New Jersey distributors.

Winton contends north Jersey and the New York metropolitan area should be included in a comprehensive order. He said Pierce was retained by various groups to organize opposition to a comprehensive order. Pierce

Reservists Called Up For Crisis

Big 3 Continues Talks on Canal

London, Aug. 2 (AP)—Britain and France ordered precautionary military measures today and, with the United States, put the finishing touches to a plan to call an international conference to place the Suez Canal under international control.

Prime Minister Eden, accusing Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser of "broken faith and broken promises," announced the military moves to cheering House of Commons. He said "certain naval, army and air force units" had been ordered to the Mediterranean from Britain and a limited number of specialized reservists called up. The transport ministry was reported to have authorized the requisitioning of passenger ships for troop movements.

TWO BRITISH aircraft carriers, the 13,350-ton Theseus and the 13,190-ton Ocean, left Portland and were reported under orders to sail for the Mediterranean. The cruiser Glasgow, two destroyers, six LCT's, a submarine rescue ship and a minesweeper apparently were being readied for movement at Portsmouth, Llanelly, Wales, and at Malta.

At the same time a foreign official reported that British subjects in Egypt had been advised to consider whether it would not be wise to leave Egypt. Washington sources said the 2,700 Americans in Egypt also had been advised by the state department to stay out of crowds and away from downtown Cairo during the tension.

The French navy ministry disclosed that 15 warships assembled at Toulon have been ordered to be ready to steam to "an unknown destination." Official French sources said the order was in connection with the crisis arising from Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's nationalization of the canal.

THESE MOVES were made as U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau awaited the final draft of a plan from their experts on the calling of an international conference to guarantee the continued international use of the strategic waterway.

It was reported Egypt and Soviet Russia would be invited to the conference. But there was a question whether Nasser would accept.

If he refused, the western powers would be faced with the prospect of using military force. Both the French and British governments have been under heavy political pressure at home to take decisive action. Dulles, however, is reported to have urged moderation.

EDEN TOLD the Commons Britain will accept nothing less than an international authority to operate the canal. He charged Nasser with violating the International Pact of 1888 establishing the international character

Directory Ready At C of C Office

The new 1956-57 Kingston Area Directory published by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce was received today. A copy will first be mailed to all members. Copies will be given to those who inquire as to sources of services, places to shop, and in some cases where employment might be obtained.

The classified directory of all members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce was first published three years ago as a direct membership service. Thousands of copies have been distributed, mostly to new residents.

In commenting on the membership directory, George J. Silkworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that many favorable reports have been received about this 24-page booklet and that extra copies are available in the Chamber office.

The inside of the cover contains a listing of officers and directors. The back cover has an outline map of the Hudson valley showing the location of Kingston. The inside of the back cover contains a listing of some Chamber of Commerce activities. Copies will be given to anyone on request.

Ulster Hopes for Early Clearance on Planning

The Town of Ulster hopes to obtain clearance for a township planning program some time this week, it was reported to The Freeman today.

Application by the township for such a study — already approved by the state—is now in federal hands.

"We hope to clear it this week," Supervisor Percy Bush said. He explained that there were some "wrinkles" yet to be ironed out between the state and federal agencies.

The town of Ulster was the first township in the state to be approved by the New York State Department of Commerce.

Report on the status of the local application came today as state-approved programs of urban planning for Massena and Monticello were submitted to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The State Department of Commerce said pledges of state assistance for the two programs exhausted funds remaining from the $25,000 appropriated by the 1956 legislature for aid in that field, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Albany.

The Massena study, expected to take two years, will deal with growth problems stemming from the St. Lawrence seaway and

Job Safety Conference Is Called September 27-28

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today scheduled his statewide worker-safety conference for Sept. 27 and 28 here and called again for action to cut down on-the-job accidents.

Harriman announced the conference dates before meeting with his industrial safety advisory committee at a luncheon in the executive mansion.

The committee, appointed by Harriman earlier this month, is headed by Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of Radio Corp. of America.

In remarks prepared for the luncheon, Harriman said the state and all its citizens "must be concerned about the human suffering and the hardship to families resulting from a recent average of 821,000 on-the-job accidents each year."

Last month, when he announced plans for the safety conference, Harriman said industrial accidents in New York state cost employers and employes about 750 million dollars a year.

Harriman told the luncheon that action to reduce such accidents "deserves our attention for the same reason as do campaigns against preventable diseases."

The Governor said a cut-back in the accident rate also would reduce the cost of workmen's compensation, which is borne by employers, and put the state in a better competitive position in attracting and holding business.

Central Official Blames Mail Stops For Late Trains on West Shore Runs

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—An official of the New York Central railroad said today that the need to make many stops for mail service on its West Shore division made it difficult to run the train on time.

W. R. Main, director of passenger train service for the Central, testified at a hearing before the Public Service Commission. The commission is considering a petition by the Central to curtail passenger service on the West Shore line, which runs between Weehawken, N. J., and Albany.

Main agreed, under cross-examination by Joseph J. Doran, assistant PSC counsel, that some trains between Albany and Weehawken were late as often as half of the time. He said that perhaps the schedules ought to be modified.

Doran and W. A. Roberts, attorney for communities protesting curtailment, contend that if the railroad improved service on the division, passenger business would increase. The railroad contends that revenues would not increase sufficiently to justify the increased cost of providing better service.

Main agreed with a statement by Doran that it was hard to attract passengers to slow trains. He said the average speed of trains on the West Shore Division ranged from 29 to 32 miles per hour.

Main testified that another factor making it difficult to speed service was the age of the equipment. He said the tracks were built for low speeds.

The New York Central originally had asked the Interstate Commerce Commission and the state of New Jersey in addition to the New York PSC for permission to abandon operations on the West Shore.

However, after lengthy proceedings, New Jersey ordered the railroad to run 11 trains five days a week between Weehawken and West Haverstraw, N. Y., which is near the New York-New Jersey state line. The railroad now asks for a similar order in New York state.

U. S. Steel Expects to Wind Up Agreement Plan Today

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—A U. S. Steel Co. spokesman said the company expected to conclude today its own agreement on a wage contract with the United Steelworkers of America.

Conclusion of a contract with the nation's leading steel firm would set a pattern for the other major steel companies and start the return to work of 650,000 striking steelworkers after more than a month of idleness.

Union and industry sources have said they expected the U. S. Steel-USW agreement would be accomplished first. A basic settlement of economic issues was reached last Friday.

Under this workers would receive an hourly wage package increase variously estimated at from 45 to 55 cents an hour during a three-year, no-strike contract. Steelworkers earned an

SYMBOL OF HATE—Standing in Warsaw's Defiles Square, the Palace of Culture and Science is reportedly regarded by the Poles as a symbol of oppression. Built by the Soviets, it can be seen from any spot in the city. In Warsaw, they say that the best view in the city is from the palace itself—it's the only place from which the Communist structure cannot be seen.

Harriman Chance Gone: Mahoney

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug 2 (AP)—Walter J. Mahoney, Republican majority leader in the State Senate, says Gov. Harriman no longer has a chance to receive the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mahoney said last night that Sen. Kefauver had "pulled what was left of the rug out from under the Harriman presidential aspirations."

Kefauver withdrew Tuesday from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination and asked his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson.

Mahoney told a Republican gathering at nearby Baird Park that Kefauver may have performed "a minor service" to the people of New York state. The GOP leader said that a result of the senator's move could be that Harriman would "find some time to devote to his duties" as governor.

Mahoney said Harriman had spent most of his 18 months in office in "political meanderings throughout most of the other 47 states with little attention paid to the needs and desires" of New Yorkers.

Social Security Will Cover GIs Jan. 1

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, all servicemen will come under the Social Security System and benefits will be increased for many survivors of persons who die on active military duty, or as a result of such service.

Signing legislation authorizing this program, President Eisenhower said yesterday that "for the first time in many years" Congress has given "a measure of financial security to families of our soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines. . . ."

The bill—aimed in part at making the military service more attractive as a career—ranked high on Eisenhower's legislative program. He said he signed the bill with "great satisfaction."

In its first year, the program of increased benefits will cost an estimated 458 million dollars. The costs were expected to decline slightly after that.

30 Are Killed In Honduras; Troops on Guard

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Aug. 2 (AP)—Extra troops patroled the Honduran capital today in the wake of an abortive seven-hour revolt that claimed at least 30 lives. But citizens used to sporadic outbreaks went about their business as usual.

Authorities rounded up 130 suspects for questioning in connection with the attempt against the harassed regime of Honduras' constitutional dictator, Chief of State Julio Lozano.

A government spokesman said the revolt began at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday when 400 troops stationed at the San Francisco armory fanned out patrols in an attempt to seize the city.

The government brought up infantry, and opened fire on the armory until the rebels ran up the white flag at 9 a. m. Cleanup squads were sent through the city to run down rebel remnants.

Business returned to normal during the afternoon and pedestrians filled the streets.

Set Hearing Date In Saugerties On Peddlers Fees

Increase of peddlers' license fees in the village of Saugerties will be the subject of a special hearing before the village board of trustees Monday at 8 p. m. in the trustees rooms of Saugerties municipal building.

THE VILLAGE trustees have proposed an increase of peddlers license fees from $2 to $10 per day and from $25 to $50 per year.

The Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting went on record approving the action of the trustees and offering the full support of the organization and its merchant's committee.

The Chamber's action was motivated to discourage the sale of articles and staples which are in direct competition with local merchants who are paying rent and taxes and in other ways supporting the village.

IN CONJUNCTION with the hearing the Chamber has announced that they are urging all local merchants to show their interest in this project and support it with their attendance at the hearing on Monday.

Chamber of Commerce officials will attend, however a lack of interest on the part of local merchants could cause defeat of the measure, the announcement said.

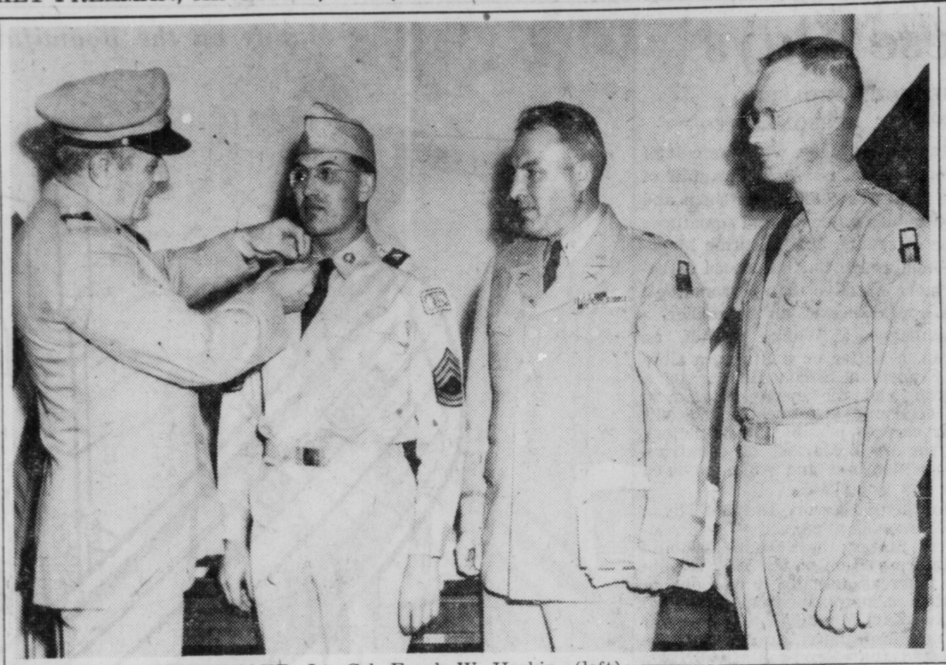

Following the hearing the regular meeting of the board of trustees will be held.

Formalizing Agreements

Montreal, Aug. 2 (AP)—U. S. and Canadian Agencies directing St. Lawrence Seaway construction say they are formalizing agreements to build a highway suspension bridge linking Rooseveltown, N. Y., and Cornwall Island, Ont. Lionel G. Chevrier, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada, said yesterday that "we are pretty well agreed on principle but we are going at this thing clause-by-clause and it is a long tedious process." Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., represented the United States at a meeting of the two agencies. Representatives of the New York Central Railroad also were present. Discussed were plans of the railroad to ask permission of U. S. and Canadian regulatory bodies to abandon a line over the St. Lawrence between the U. S. side and Ontario.

Out of the Way

Dallas (AP)—A construction foreman, 35, became annoyed at a pair of Sunday drivers. "Get that car out of the way," he shouted as he breezed past. The Sunday drivers, Sheriff's Deputies R. J. Weaver and Charles Deshazo, did speed up a bit. Just enough to catch the construction man. They booked him for driving while intoxicated and driving while his license was suspended.

END OF VALUABLE PROGRAM

A milestone in education has come to an end with the expiration of the GI Bill of Rights for World War II veterans.

This monumental legislation has had an unalterable effect on the lives and careers of millions of men who fought in the war. It gave them an undreamed-of educational opportunity which they jumped at with unexpected enthusiasm.

During the course of the 12-year-old law more than 7,800,000 veterans took advantage of its benefits. The tab Uncle Sam picked up came to $14.5 billion.

Few will dispute that over the long run it was worth the price.

True, there were a number of fly-by-night schools which fleeced veterans. And before Congress and the Veterans Administration cracked down, nearly half a million dollars was wasted on worthless courses.

But a staggering number of vets flooded schools for a good education. By the end of 1945 when demobilization was beginning to hit its stride, 186,000 veterans were taking GI training. The number leaped to 2,200,000 a year later and then reached a record level of 2,500,000 at the end of 1947.

At that time educators figured that two-thirds of all male students on college campuses were GI Bill veterans. Filling every available dormitory, jamming curriculums, and flocking to night courses, these ex-servicemen clamored for all types of education. They and their wives, kids and dogs gave college life a new domestic dimension.

All were entitled to one to four years of free schooling according to their length of service. Of the 7,800,000 who took the opportunity, 2,200,000 attended college; 3,500,000 went to schools below the college level; 1,400,000 tackled on-the-job training and 700,000 enrolled in instutional on-farm training.

A follow-up study of the VA indicates that out of every 100 GI-trained veterans, 33 aimed for highly skilled trade and industrial jobs and 10 engaged in scientific studies including engineering and medicine.

As a result, VA officials say that today veterans hold jobs in a number of fields where there are critical manpower shortages.

Most of the quonset huts have now been removed from campuses. But the veteran trainee has not disappeared entirely from the American scene. Nearly three-quarters of a million veterans will enroll in schools this fall under the four-year-old Korean GI Bill.

The World War II veteran has left his mark on thousands of colleges and institutions, however. He was a demanding and war-matured student who was not satisfied with pat professorial answers. His dress may have been somewhat sloppy, but his mind was not.

To their everlasting credit, the nation's colleges met the challenge. They laid out special programs and set up special courses for veterans. They launched large-scale building projects to handle the postwar flood of veteran students.

In all, the era of the GI Bill is one we can look back on with pride. And we can be especially glad Congress saw the need for this program early in the game. For the legislation was enacted in June, 1944, when we were deeply involved in a raging war all over the world.

That was foresight of the first order.

Almost every college graduate looks back with admiration on some one teacher who stood out above the rest as the man from whom he learned the most. At Harvard the favorite candidate for this honor was the late George Lyman Kittredge, authority on Shakespeare and English ballads, who died a few years ago. A fitting honor was given him when the university decided lately to name the new home of the Harvard University Press the Kittredge building.

THE CULT OF PERSONALITY

Much of written history deals with the cult of personality, the emergence, rise, and downfall of individuals whose lives affect all about them and whose virtues and foibles influence and sometimes control the course of events. The scientific Marxists look to economic and social influences as being stronger and more effective than personalities. They explain the appearance of an Alexander, a Caesar, a Charlemagne, a Wang An-shih, an Akbar, a Napoleon, a Hitler or a Stalin, a Genghis Kahn or a Franco, a Simon Bolivar or a George Washington, and the events related to them, upon the economic and social conditions which made their careers possible. Nevertheless, Stalin could, in the most Marxist of countries, turn himself into a demigod and while he lived the resistance to him was scant.

The reason, for instance, why Richard Nixon and not Harold Stassen is at present Vice President of the United States, they would attribute to an economic interpretation of the 1952 Republican Convention whereas actually it was due to the fact that when a newspaperman suggested that Representative Karl Mundt go to Whittaker Chambers' farm near Baltimore, Mundt was a bit weary and suggested that Representative Nixon might be willing to go. Nixon did go and Alger Hiss went to prison. Politically Nixon has established a value to the Republican Party which was utilizable in the 1952 campaign and may be again.

All sorts of things happen at political conventions, and when it is suggested that Nixon betrayed the then Governor of California, Earl Warren, it must also be noted that Warren was not a veritable candidate for the Presidency and that both camps knew that he desired a seat on the Supreme Court and that both the Eisenhower and Taft groups hoped to bargain for California's votes on that basis and did. Perhaps Nixon did manage to get the Vice Presidency because of that, but had Robert A. Taft been nominated, the Vice Presidency most likely would have gone to Senator William Knowland who would today, in the circumstance, have been President of the United States. There were many personal contracts in both camps and at one period, I observed closely the bargaining for votes. Both sides were doing it, but the Eisenhower agents were more skillful than those who represented Taft.

The weakness of the cult of personality in American politics is that the Constitution fixes the term of office rigidly to four years, after which an election must be held. No man has ever had time enough between elections to make himself the master of the country. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower have been about as popular as anyone can become in this kind of a country, but neither fully mastered their own parties, much less the country. Roosevelt overcame this by running and being elected four times, the fourth time while he was a very sick man and undoubtedly dying. To safeguard the country further against such personalities, the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution was passed limiting the President to two terms. Thus, the mischief of any individual in that office is limited in time, even if he by personality or chicanery should overcome other limitations stipulated by the Constitution.

Roosevelt, during his 12 years in the Presidency, effected a fundamental revolution which may have been completed in the Eisenhower Administration. It was a political revolution, strengthening not only the Executive authority beyond the intent of the Constitution, but turning the Federal Government into a central government. And thus weakening the states. Roosevelt gained increasing popularity because of these acts which violated American tradition, and the white population of the South, who are now most opposed to the consequences of Roosevelt's program, gave him a political support which kept him in office as long as he lived.

In our society, personality is always likely to be the strongest factor in politics because of the nature of our elections, now aggravated by the use of television. This means that height, girth, clothes, the photogenic characteristics of the face, voice and gesture are as important political factors as intelligence and character. If women ran for President, we should probably put down their measurements, 38-24-36 or whatever happens to be popular at the moment. Intelligence and character cannot be so readily measured and generally are not fully appraised until a man is long dead.

That Body of Yours

THE CHRONICALLY ILL

Progress in caring for 5,500,000 chronically ill Americans is "disappointingly slow" according to Dr. Lowell Coggeshall of the U. S. Department of Health. There seems to be such a lag between the discovery of treatments or preventives for chronic disease and their actual application to the cases on hand. This problem is constantly growing because of the increased life expectancy and the ever-increasing occurrence of diseases of old age. In particular, we do not take advantage often enough of methods of mass diagnosis, such as the X-ray examination for tuberculosis.

What are the most common chronic diseases? Heart disorders, tuberculosis, mental illness, multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease (shaking palsy), epilepsy, diabetes, cancer, cerebral palsy, arthritis, and various eye diseases account for 88 per cent of all chronic illness in the United States. It is estimated that two million of the adults now chronically disabled in the United States could be returned to employment "if provisions were made for their rehabilitation."

One of the difficulties is that whereas formerly public health services performed services for people, the chronically ill now, in many cases, have to perform these services for themselves. "It is the diabetic patient himself who must use the insulin and watch his diet. The heart patient alone is responsible for following his physician's instructions concerning digitalis, diuretics (drugs that increase the output of urine) and low-salt diets. The health of these patients, is, to a considerable extent, in their own hands so that the chronic diseases and disabilities are thus more a problem of the individual citizen than a community program. This means that there must be more understanding, initiative and cooperation on the part of the individual citizen.

Chronic-illness prevention means that thousands of babies blinded only a few years ago by being given too much oxygen, will not be blinded in the future. It means that the deaths of thousands of women who now die unnecessarily in this country each year from cancer of the cervix would be prevented as there is now a simple, inexpensive test for detection and effective treatment. There are more than 50 chronic illnesses against which preventive action is possible today.

Nevertheless it is up to the community to provide for its chronically ill and disabled. Many authorities think that henceforth communities generally should place the greater emphasis on planning for care in and around the home. How many can we expect to have in our population who need this care? "An area of 100,000 population may expect to have 3,500 persons needing long-term care. If a community does not have a committee that is studying the problems of chronic illness as a whole, such a committee should be organized."

Mutiny on the Bountiful

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — The cases of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and ex-President Juan D. Peron of the Argentine can be profitably looked at together, through stereoscopic lenses.

Both got their starts in the same way. They were army colonels. Both became strongmen leaders of small cliques of officers who seized power, threw out their presidents, and then succeeded them.

Look now at how the United States has handled them.

Peron's "junta" took over in February, 1944, to stop the Argentine government from declaring war against Axis.

American policy towards Peron was at first tough. There was the famous U. S. State Department "Blue Book" documenting Argentine collaboration with Germany and Italy, issued under the direction of Asst. Secretary of State Spruille Braden in February, 1946. It blasted Peron and his gang on nearly every page.

BRADEN WAS FORCED to resign in June, 1947, and the U. S. Government adopted a softer policy toward Peron and Evita.

The United States advanced them money, but most of it went to pay off American exporters who had advanced the Argentine more credit than its shattered economy could pay for.

U. S. Export-Import Bank statements of June 30, 1956, show total authorized credits to the Argentine of 288 million dollars. Of this, however, 124 million was canceled, leaving net authorization of 162 million.

Disbursements of 102 million have been made and nearly 26 million have been repaid. Over 76 million is outstanding now, but the account is current.

In appreciation of this help, Peron began to play footsie with the Communists. Russia sent a big mission to Buenos Aires and staged a big trade fair. Peron made a number of barter deals with Russia but they all flopped. The Commies got meat and grains but delivered little in return.

It took the Argentine 10 years to get their belly full of Peron and throw him out of their own free will.

Question — Was that better than forcing him out by earlier American interference in the Argentine's internal affairs?

LOOK NOW AT THE CASE of Colonel Nasser and Egypt. Nasser was the strong young man in the military 'cabal' that kicked King Farouk off the throne in July, 1952, and made Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib president. Nasser succeeded him two years later.

The U. S. government did not adopt a tough policy with the new Egyptian government because the custing of Farouk was a good move.

The U. S., the U. K. and the World Bank began to work with the Egyptians on plans for the 1.3 billion dollar Aswan dam and irrigation project, essential for Egyptian survival.

Then, by coincidence, in September, 1955, the same month in which the Argentinos threw out Peron—it was disclosed that Nasser was playing footsie with the Commies and had made a barter deal to swap Egyptian cotton for Communist arms.

FIRST U. S. government reaction was to get scared of Communist penetration in Africa. Then somebody woke up to the fact that the Egyptian economy was in no condition to finance its 900-million-dollar, local currency share of Aswan dam costs.

It was decided to get tough with Nasser.

So last December's U. S. offer of an outright grant of 56 million dollars to help Egypt finance the Aswan dam was withdrawn, as was Britain's offer of financial aid.

Actually, the U. S. money would not have gone to Egypt, but to U. S. suppliers of materials and machinery. It was the same kind of a deal as the U. S. offer of loans to the Argentine to pay off American creditors.

But Nasser had one more trick up his sleeve. He announced seizure of the Suez Canal and its nationalization.

Question—Is it better to try forcing Nasser into a corner now than to help the desperately poverty-stricken Egyptian people and then let them handle him, later?

Whatever the long-range answer, what has happened explains why so many congressmen were so insistent that Aswan dam credits to Egypt and military aid to Tito of Yugoslavia be ended.

ADA Seen Backing Movement To Get Nixon Off Ticket

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 2 — Today the biggest political fact facing the Republican party in its 1956 campaign is that, under the guise of helping President Eisenhower, there is a faction which is determined to force a split in the party.

The move to "get Nixon" and keep him from being renominated for Vice President is out in the open and President Eisenhower himself has been caught in its meshes. For no President can be in the position of publicly dictating who shall be second man on the ticket with him. Hence, a dozen press conferences cannot put an end to the intra-party conflict that Harold Stassen has initiated.

REALIZING THIS restriction which every President must impose on himself just before a convention that is to renominate him, the anti-Nixon faction has a free field to make trouble for Mr. Eisenhower and endanger his chances of re-election. For the next two weeks, therefore, a member of the President's own official family "on leave of absence" will be giving aid and comfort to the Democrats by stimulating a disparaging campaign about the Vice-President in the face of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower himself speaks highly of the same individual. The Democrats naturally will take advantage of the split personality in the Republican party's leadership.

What Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference, of course, follows the conventional and customary line—he doesn't "demand" or "request" that Mr. Nixon or any one else be nominated for Vice-President. For the President himself, technically speaking, has not been renominated yet. There must be preserved, it seems, the fiction that national party conventions are "wide open" affairs never controlled by groups or leaders and subject only to the "free and untrammeled wishes" of more than 1,000 delegates.

THIS OF COURSE, is the sheerest bunkum, and Harold Stassen knows it, as does every one who read in the newspapers this week that Sen. Kefauver had withdrawn from the Democratic race in favor of Adlai Stevenson, even though a sizable number of delegates were committed to the Kefauver banner. Delegates are not chosen by popular vote in many states, and delegations are not bound by the results of the primary elections, either.

It is posible to deduce from what Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference that he likes Richard Nixon and would prefer to see him run again. The President said that Mr. Nixon "didn't seem to detract" in 1952 from the strength of the Republican ticket. Mr. Eisenhower added: "I can't believe that the United States does not consider that Mr. Nixon has made a splendid record as Vice-President in these past four years."

THIS COMES as near as expression of preference or indorsement as a President could make in advance of action by the convention itself, especially since in the same press conference Mr. Eisenhower specifically refused to answer a direct question as to whether he would be happy to have Gov. Herter on the ticket with him. The only name on which Mr. Eisenhower did express himself favorably was that of the present Vice-President.

But it is possible for the anti-Nixon people—and Mr. Stassen immediately took advantage of the opening—to construe the President's remarks as falling short of a 100 per cent indorsement of and demand for the renomination of Mr. Nixon. This means the fight will go on. It means that more and more Republicans will be fighting one another. It means more factional bitterness and a good chance that, if the row goes the limit and by some mix-up in the signals from the White House Nixon is not named, the Republican party will face defeat at the polls.

FOR, WHILE Mr. Stassen talks of a "6 per cent stronger" ticket with Mr. Herter on it, there is the other side of the coin. It will be a 20 per cent weaker Republican ticket with Mr. Nixon removed from it. It is not a personal affair in any sense. Mr. Nixon has become the symbol of the anti-Communist feeling in the Republican party which can, if pushed to extremes, persuade many Republicans to stay home and forfeit the election. For there are many regular Republicans who believe that, if a "Left-wing" group is to dominate any political party in America, it is much better to have such domination on the Democratic side, where it can be fought by a strong Republican anti-Communist force, than to maintain a perennial struggle against the "Left-wing" infiltration.

The fight against Mr. Nixon has been a smear campaign from the start. It comes primarily from the "Left wing" and also from many of the groups which have been protesting against the efforts in Washington to get rid of Communists in government. As Sen. Mundt of South Dakota, Republican, expressed it, the "Americans for Democratic Action," which master-minded the Stevenson campaign in 1952, is behind the anti-Nixon movement and is trying to dictate to the Republicans that they must get rid of Mr. Nixon. Mr. Mundt says it's probably because the ADA fears him most.

AT PRESENT writing, most of the Republican delegates probably believe the President wants Mr. Nixon renominated. If the President, by so much as a nod to someone else or a phrase dropped carelessly in a press conference indicates some other preference, Mr. Stassen will be quick to cry out that this isn't dictation to the delegates but inspired advice in a "great cause." The chances are that the President will not say anything that will widen the split in his own party. Mr. Stassen will do that job, and Mr. Eisenhower will be helpless publicly to stop it.

Many Agreements Made

Suez Canal Subject of World Friction for Over 100 Years

By The Associated Press

The Suez Canal has been the subject of international agreements and international friction ever since it first became an active project more than 100 years ago.

The first two agreements were between Mohammed Said, Ottoman Turkish khedive or viceroy of Egypt, and his old friend, Count Ferdinand Marie De Lesseps, once French consul general in Alexandria.

The khedive on Nov. 30, 1854, signed a concession authorizing De Lesseps to form a company to dig a ship canal through the Isthmus of Suez, from the Mediterranean Sea to the Red Sea Gulf of Suez.

On Jan. 5, 1856, he signed a new and broader concession for 99 years from the date of the opening of the Cross-Isthmus Canal. At the end of that time the canal was to become Egyptian government property. This was the agreement President Gamal Abdel Nasser's nationalization decree last week set aside.

De Lesseps two years later began selling stock in his Compagnie Universelle du Canal Maritime de Suez—The Universal Company of the Suez Maritime Canal. Meanwhile he went to Constantinople (Istanbul) to get the necessary approval of the sultan of Turkey.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY foiled him. He went to London and there was told that his canal would mean French interference in the East and would harm British maritime supremacy.

But the sultan eventually gave his consent, in 1866. Workmen had begun digging the waterway on April 25, 1859. It was opened Nov. 17, 1869, when French Empress Eugenie's yacht Aigle and 54 other ships sailed through.

De Lesseps once said the canal should "open the earth to all peoples." Accordingly his agreements with the khedive set out that it was to be a "universal" waterway. Tolls were to be the same to all countries and the canal was to be open to every merchant ship whatever its flag.

THE KHEDIVE was given 44 per cent of the stock. In 1875, with the khedive's government deep in debt, Britain bought out his interest with funds loaned Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli by the Rothschilds. Four years later Britain and France took control.

In 1883 an uprising against them threatened. Britain landed troops and the commander, Sir Garnet Wolseley, closed the canal to navigation for four days.

The problem of keeping the waterway open to all nations was put before an international conference then in session in Constantinople. The result was an agreement signed Oct. 29, 1888.

This "Constantinople convention" said the canal should "always be free and open, in time of war as in time of peace, to every vessel of commerce or of war, without distinction of flag."

THERE WERE nine signers—Austria, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Russia, Spain and Turkey. Britain made the reservation that the convention should not deprive her of freedom of action during her occupation of Egypt.

On April 8, 1904, Britain signed an agreement with France in which she agreed that major provisions of the convention should go into effect. She was still occupying Egypt. In 1914 a British protectorate was declared.

In the first World War, Britain and France defended the canal. Navigation ceased for a few hours on Feb. 3, 1915, while an invading Turkish Army was routed. Egypt became an independent kingdom in 1922.

In 1936 Britain and Egypt signed a 20-year treaty establishing a 5,000-square-mile defensive area running westward from the canal and called the Suez Canal Zone.

THE TREATY terminated the general occupation of Egypt by Britain but authorized the British to train and station troops in the canal zone for the purpose of keeping the canal open to all countries' shipping.

British troops and U. S. airmen defended the canal in World War 2, and Germany's Afrika Korps got no closer to it than 200 miles. After the war Egypt pressed for revision of the 1936 agreement.

Britain's force in the canal zone meanwhile had grown from the authorized 10,000 to more than 80,000. New negotiations produced a new treaty, signed July 27, 1954, under which the British were to withdraw all their troops by June 18, 1956. The last troops got out five days ahead of time, going to Britain's new Middle East headquarters on Cyprus.

Nasser's seizure of the canal and the canal company's offices brought suggestions in Britain and France that the British reoccupy their big base in the zone, but diplomats of the western Big Three conferring in London are reported considering instead proposal of an international control body to insure free navigation through the waterway.

Test Run

Omaha (AP)—The way things worked out, John Garfield, 67, got a quick trip to the hospital and the police got an honest-to-goodness patient for what had been planned as a test emergency run. The empty ambulance was making a test run to see whether motorists were giving right of way to emergency vehicles when Garfield dropped over on the sidewalk across the street, a victim of the 102 degree heat. Garfield was hustled into the ambulance and off it went with a swarm of motorcycle police—to catch offending motorists—in pursuit.

THE TRUTH ABOUT

MARGARINE

The one major difference in margarine is packaging.

Let's look at the facts. There is no difference in grades of margarine. There may be some slight variations in color, taste or consistency of content. But all packers must conform to the same set of strict government standards.

You might ask then, if there's no difference in quality, why is there a difference in price. And the answer is packaging. Some packers add fancy foil wrappers. Others may use special containers. Some packers need a special packing to keep their margarines fresh. Others may use it for the sake of appearance.

Whatever the reason may be, special packaging adds just one thing to margarine . . . COST. Yes, the quality is still the same, but you pay more.

So, if you want to save as much as 25% on margarine try HAPPY BOY, the finest, tastiest spread at a realistic price.

HAPPY BOY MARGARINE is delivered so frequently by over 365 distributors that it must be fresh. And because it is fresh, the price isn't padded with a lot of expensive packaging extras. That's why HAPPY BOY MARGARINE sells for as much as 25% less than the other leading brands.

These are the facts and HAPPY BOY backs them up with a full unconditional money-back guarantee. If, for any reason, you are not satisfied, your dealer is authorized to return your full purchase price.

We, at HOTEL BAR FOODS, the makers of HAPPY BOY, have been in the so-called "expensive" spread business for 70 years. Tasty, wholesome foods have been and will continue to be our only business. On that basis, we believe that we are best qualified to make and offer the very best margarine at the most economical price, HAPPY BOY MARGARINE.

Try HAPPY BOY today. Look for the red package at your favorite grocer or supermarket.

Chastise the Machine

Portales, N. M. (AP)—The Portales Daily News, apologizing for leaving out two names in the list of Eastern New Mexico University graduates, blamed it on the typecasting machine. The newspaper added "we shall chastise the machine for its willful neglect, especially since one of these two graduates is a former reporter and proof reader for the Daily News and hence the machine should have known better."

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Music Festival, Art Exhibits Are Scheduled Here

Woodstock, Aug. 2—A rare treat is in store for Woodstock's musical audiences Saturday, at the Maverick, when a concert of Renaissance and Post Renaissance music will be presented on the instruments for which this music was originally written. Two artists, both acclaimed and dedicated authorities in the field of ancient music, Blanche Winogron, virginalist, clavichordist, harpsichordist and pianist, and Alix Young Maruchess, outstanding violist and performer on the viola d'amore, will offer a program of music from the 14th to the 18th century. Both performers have concertized widely and have contributed much toward reviving interest in old music.

The Turnau Opera Players, during the fifth week of their summer season in the Byrdcliffe Theatre will present Zanetto by Mascagni and The Impresario by Mozart on Aug. 3 and 7, and on Aug. 10 The Telephone by Menotti and Cupid and Psyche by Ashley Vernon. Considerable interest has been attached to the world premiere of the latter work on July 27 when the Austrian government requested the performance to be recorded under the auspices of the Voice of America, for broadcast to Austria.

Ashley Vernon, the composer, and his wife, Greta Hartwig, the librettist of this opera, are natives of Vienna. The late Josef Turnau, for whom the opera group is named, was chief stage director of the Vienna State Opera under Richard Strauss. The request for this broadcast points out the interest which the Austrian people have in the work that is being carried on by their compatriots in America.

An Aug. 5 at 4 p. m., the Maverick Concerts will present the Kohon String Quartet, with Isabelle Byman as guest artist. The program will open with the rarely-heard Quartet No. 2 by Arriaga who was one of the most gifted early 19th century Spanish composers. This will be followed by Cesar Franck's Piano Quintet with Isabelle Byman at the piano. The second half of the program will be given over to Bela Bartok's Second String Quartet op. 17.

The next concert of the Harmony Hill series will take place Saturday, Aug. 11 at 8:30 p. m. in the Maverick Hall. The program will consist entirely of Roumanian Music, performed by David Sackson, violinist; Josef Wolman, pianist; Naomi Lieberman, soprano; and H. A. Schimmerling, lecturer and pianist. Details will be announced.

Guild Food Sale

Woodstock, Aug. 2—The Ladies' Guild of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, will hold its second food sale of the summer, Saturday, next to the Colonial Pharmacy, beginning at 10 a. m. Mrs. Hugh Martin will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Russell Cooke and Miss Peggy Elgar. Baked specialities from home ovens and pantry delicacies will be on sale.

Gift to Craftsmen

Woodstock, Aug. 2 — The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen building is a recipient of a welcome gift from Mrs. Blanche Rosett and Miss Alice Wardwell, a new cooling-ventilating system, just installed.

Woodstock, Aug. 2—Household items made by the blind in the shops of the Albany Association of the Blind will be offered at the Woodstock Sale for the Blind, to be held on the Lutheran Church lawn on Thursday, August 23.

Mrs. John Wolven is serving as general chairman of the sale.

Aprons, children's aprons, lunch cloths, turkish towels and face cloths, linen towels, potholders, dusters, dishcloths, rugs, sheepskin moccasins, brooms, hearth and whisk brooms, rubber doormats, leather goods and toys will be among the articles displayed and sold at the Woodstock Sale.

All articles are made by the blind and show the high quality of workmanship for which the blind are noted. Plan to visit the Woodstock sale and buy these attractive articles from the blind.

Turnau Players Are Applauded

Woodstock, Aug. 2—There was a large, highly pleased audience at the end of the double bill at the Byrdcliffe Theatre, presented by the Turnau Opera Players last Friday night. They performed The Telephone by Menotti, and the world premiere of Cupid and Psyche by Ashley Vernon and Greta Hartwig.

The evening began with a charming performance of Menotti's Telephone, played excellently by Lucille Sullam and William Werbell. Miss Sullam is histrionically a natural. She sang the part, belonging to a coloratura soubretta with the greatest trouper spirit. But her voice is a bel canto voice, and one of the first order. The speaking singing tone necessary for this part appears overfocused, and somewhat distorted. It is this kind of tone, where William Werbell is completely at home. Without trouble he achieves resonance, perfect diction and pleasant tone.

Husband and wife authors, Ashley Vernon and Greta Hartwig fortunately found for their comic opera an excellent cast. Top honors go to Marvin Snow as Jupiter. In a beautiful mask of the Zeus of Otricoli, he showed vocally and as an actor a perfect aptness for this part. His twinkling humor, his thundering basso, and perfect diction, build a perfect diction, build a perfect ensemble. Jeffrey Wolfe was also excellent in his dangerously ageless part. The two rival "beauty queens" Venus and Psyche, both gave distinguished performances. Miss Chrisman mastered the difficult high tessatura of Psyche ably, and the piquant young lady Jan Ruetz, should easily find her way to Broadway. With her last couplet, "A beautiful woman like me" she really stole the show. Robert Shuster as Charon has always an easy way of getting across the footlights. His versatility is astonishing. The new work itself shows a combined style of Offenbach, Nestroy and opera.

Libretto and music live just on this combination, and the composer and librettist fill the gap between these styles with a remarkable grace and routine. The libretto itself shows wit and constructive theatre hand. Dante and Dore don't lend themselves well to parody. The stage direction of Barbara Owens is ingenious, and makes the best of the small stage. Last but not least Sally Turnau shows in her designing always fine taste. Elizabethanism and idealized stage (the velvet room with the sketched Doric pillars alternate appropriately). To summarize, the first Jupiter scene is a splendid exposition, leading the plot at well measured pace from Heaven through the world to Hades, and back to the finale and a great success "Forever And A Day."

Woodstock
Isaacs Exhibit Is Set Saturday

Woodstock, Aug. 2—An exhibition of paintings is to be held at the Rudolph Gallery Annex on Maple Lane, by Marguerite Evans Isaacs, from August 4 to 11. The artist's work is done almost entirely in abstract and abstract-impressionism and offers an enjoyable variety in style, subject and color. There will also be an interesting folio of drawings to be seen. The preview will be on Saturday, from 3 to 5 p. m., with refreshments.

Mrs. Isaacs was brought up in the Middle West, and has lived in Woodstock for the past five years. Prior to that time she had lived in the Hervey White colony on Maverick Road, and her daughter Lynn Evans, had her first home in the colony, in the early 1940's. Mrs. Isaacs' talent was discovered during her residence in a well-known art school and gallery ten years ago, the Saint Paul Gallery and School of Art which is in connection with the Walker Gallery in Minneapolis, and also with the University of Minnesota. The staff of the art school was impressed with her originality and urged her to remain away from formal art training and to follow her own style of producing her pictures. Mrs. Isaacs is a member of the Woodstock Artists Association and was also a member of the Zena Gallery Group until her resignation a few weeks ago, due to the pressure of her secretarial duties with Candelier.

Roundtable Talk Is Scheduled

Woodstock, Aug. 2—Friday, at 8:30 p. m. the Woodstock Artists Association will present a round table discussion entitled "What Is the Creative Incentive." A panel of distinguished creators in the field of psychiatry, the theatre, literature, and the plastic arts will discuss the various aspects of the creative incentive and will answer questions from the audience.

Dr. John Cederquist practices medicine in New York in the psychoanalytic medium. He teaches psychosomatic medicine at Columbia Physicians and Surgeons and is on the staff of Presbyterian Hospital. He originally planned to become a surgeon and work with his hands. In this he feels a kinship to artists who work with their hands. Dr. Cederquist will talk on "Art In the Context of Man's Efforts to Achieve a Better Life."

The second speaker is Sidney Laufman, well known Woodstock artist who took part in the Art Conferences held here some years back and who chaired the panel on "The Changing Horizon" in the plastic arts. Mr. Laufman has been president of Artists Equity and has been active in the art world. Last winter he had a one man show of his beautiful drawings in New York. Mr. Laufman is an artist of national reputation.

Cyril Simon, director of the Woodstock Playhouse, is the third speaker. He has been active in the professional theatre for the past 15 years as an actor, stage manager, producer and director. He was in the revue "Inside U.S.A.", and produced in television, The Paul Winchell Show, Stop the Music, and Cosmopolitan Theatre. During the last few years he has directed at Watkins Glen, in Rhode Island and now in Woodstock. Mr. Simon takes the point that art is the artist's search for himself. Discovery is the end product.

Ira Wolfert, successful author, lecturer and associated with the Readers Digest, has to his credit a number of acclaimed novels including Married Men, Tuckers People and Act of Love.

The moderator will be Arthur Zaidenberg, painter and muralist whose work is in the collections of the Metropolitan Museum, Brooklyn Museum and many other museums and private collections. He is the author of a number of books on art, on drawing, painting and sculpture.

By popular demand the Woodstock Artists Association is featuring Fifty Little Gems for 50 Collectors.

Church Notices

Woodstock, Aug. 2—The Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of The Calvary Methodist Church, New York city, will be the guest minister at the Woodstock Methodist Church, Sunday, Aug. 12, at 10:45 a. m.

The Rev. Mr. Peckham was pastor of the Woodstock parish for the first seven years of his ministry. The churches progressed rapidly under his leadership, and many people are looking forward to his return to the pulpit here.

The Rev. Mr. Peckham was pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in Kingston for several years. All of his Kingston friends are invited to come to Woodstock to hear him preach and to renew their acquaintance with him.

The Rev. Mr. Peckham has served several long and distinguished pastorates during the period of his ministry. Besides the Clinton Avenue Church, he served for a time as associate minister of the Fort Washington Collegiate Church in New York city.

The Rev. Garnett M. Wilder will preach a sermon entitled "Don't Be Half Safe!" in all the churches of the Woodstock parish Sunday. Holy Communion will be administered in every church. The sermon of the day uses a familiar advertising slogan to point out an eternal Christian truth. Everyone is cordially invited to worship in the Methodist Church of his choice on Sunday.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet on Friday evening of this week at the youth center in Wittenberg. The program theme will emphasize "The Endless Line of Splendor," i. e., stories of the thrilling history of Methodism.

At the regular Sunday morning service at 11 a. m. on August 5, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd will continue with his series of sermons on six favorite Psalms of his choice. The 23rd Psalm will be the text for the theme, "Shephard, Guide and Host." A nursery is provided where parents may leave their younger children during the service.

The ladies of the Reformed Church are preparing for the cafeteria supper to be served Tuesday, Aug. 7, beginning at 5:30 p. m.

Bridge Commission Asks $95,366 Back

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission has filed suit against two former commission members to recover $95,366 allegedly collected in illegal salaries.

Named defendants in the action filed yesterday in U. S. District Court, were Alexander R. Miller, an Easton insurance man and former chairman and executive director of the commission, and R. Chapman Carver, of Ivyland, a former commission member.

Miller, Carver and Leslie Brown of Trenton, another former chairman, have been the center of an investigation by the two-state board. Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania charged Miller and Carver had collected $84,209 in salaries and expenses over a three-year period, although their jobs, by state law, are unsalaried.

The suit asks for return of all monies collected by the two men "together with interest and costs."

Not long ago you could find first class bridge only in a few Eastern cities, but today experts live in every part of the country. When the regional tournament begins next week in Missoula, Montana, the standard of play will be nearly as high as in the national championships now being held in New York.

Today's hand is contributed by C. H. Scholer, of Missoula. "Eleven out of twelve declarers played this hand correctly," he writes, "in one of our recent duplicates."

"They all took the heart finesse at the first trick, losing to the king. Regardless of East's return lead, the succesful declarers all drew two rounds of trumps and then went after the clubs. They managed to ruff two clubs in the dummy and won tricks with all four trumps in their own hands together with the two red aces and the two top clubs. They all brought in ten tricks, making the game contract.

Get in Summer Swim--- Serve Tuna in Salads

TUNA MOUSSE, tomato wedges and thin slices of cucumber keep guests cool inside when it's 90-plus in Palm Springs, Calif.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In Palm Springs, California, the temperature averages about 91 degrees in mid-summer. But John Leonhardi, chef of the Tennis Club there, knows how to turn his guests' thoughts from the heat.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Add gelatin mixture and mix well. Turn into 8-inch ring mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens, if desired.

On Interest

Denver (AP) — Ted Gano, city circulation manager of The Denver Post, has a dollar he hadn't counted on and someone in Aberdeen, Wash., has a cleansed conscience. The dollar came in a letter from a woman at Aberdeen. She explained her son once was a customer of Gano's when he worked as a carrier boy for the Portland, Ore., Oregonian. The son had owed Gano 55 cents but never could find him to pay it. She said the dollar "certainly would not be paying all we owe if we counted interest."

TELEGRAM FOR . . .—If a motorist's car isn't equipped with a telephone, the next best thing is this ingenious method being installed along French highways. Names of autoists who have telegrams sent to them are posted on billboards located at strategic points along major highways. A person spotting his name on the panel can then proceed to the nearest station where his message is waiting for him.

Mager, rear, can't figure it out. The dog beat out a "figure eight," which just happens to coincide with his age—eight years.

Limping Fox

State College, Pa. (AP)—Mark Smythe placed an ad in the lost and found department of the newspaper asking that his pet be returned to him—but alive. He had good reason for adding the "alive" stipulation. The pet is a red fox Smythe has had penned in his home for some time. He said the animal won't be hard to identify. It has a broken leg which isn't in a cast. As a result, Smythe said the animal is sure to be limping.

Center Summer Events Continue

Summer schedule of the Jewish Community Center will continue to feature the day camp, evening and weekend family swims and other special interest events, it was reported today by Sol Silverman, center director.

The events will be under the chairmanship of Sidney Halpern and Leon Crystal. The membership was reminded that the Wall street office will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

IN THE COMING weeks several adult programs will be sponsored by the committee, culminating in the Labor Day dance which has become a traditional center feature.

One hundred thirty five persons were served a complete fried chicken dinner at the first annual chicken dinner and dance at the Camp Jay Cee Cee grounds on July 28. The recreation hall was decorated in a festive red, white and blue scheme accenting the rustic decor of the room.

The chicken fry was the first major event of the summer season geared to adult recreation. The summer activity program has been in operation for the past month, planning and executing family programs and weekend children's activities and coordinating Day Camp family programs.

SERVING ON the committee with Mrs. Gilbert Adin and Mrs. Martin Garber, chairmen, were Mrs. Shirley Stone, and John Levy, publicity, Mrs. Aaron Adin, Sidney Treinkman, Morton Levine, Sam Schwartzberg, Sigmund Rudisch, Melvin Samuels, Harry Fertel and Leon Crystal.

REQUIEM IN PAX—The final resting place for 9,386 American soldiers, killed in the Normandy landing 12 years ago, was recently dedicated, along with a newly erected monument, background. Flags of the United States and France fly beside the crosses in long rows at the U.S. Military Cemetery in Saint Laurent, France. Six such U.S. military burial grounds are being dedicated in Western Europe in July.

Built in 1747, Redwood library at Newport, Rhode Island, is the oldest library building in continuous use in America.

USING HIS HEAD—Cpl. Harry Mikus, at Fort Monmouth, N.J., reports back to his squad through the world's smallest radio. The helmet radio, with thumb-sized microphone, was developed by the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories and weighs less than a pound, including batteries. In actual combat, Cpl. Mikus would be safer than most forward observers who have to carry radios on their shoulders, impeding their movement and making them priority targets.

Pamphlets Available To Veterans, Families

Area veterans and members of their families were reminded today by Director Howard Shurter of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency that free copies of the "World War 2 & Korean Veterans Time Table of Benefits and Allowances," as well as a World War 1 Time Table of benefits may be obtained by visiting the office at 32 Main street.

These pamphlets, published by the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs, graphically presents all major Federal benefits and allowances accorded veterans and their kin under the World War 2 and Korean GI Bill of Rights. It also lists all other available Federal and New York State benefits, with explanations and dates of termination for each.

Mr. Shurter pointed out that the New York State Veterans Time Table for veterans of World War 1 also outlines the benefits to which these veterans are entitled.

Director Shurter urged all veterans and members of their families to secure a copy of these informative pamphlets by visiting the office at 32 Main street.

Lack of Oxygen Blamed

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 2 (AP) —Lack of oxygen in the blood was blamed today for the death of a skin diver while practicing dives before taking underwater pictures of the sunken liner Andrea Doria. William Edgerton, 23, of Belmont, died shortly after he was pulled from the waters of Nantucket harbor. He was one of a group of about 20 in a privately financed expedition to film the liner which plunged into 225 feet of water 45 miles south of Nantucket after a collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm last week.

British Ship Sinks

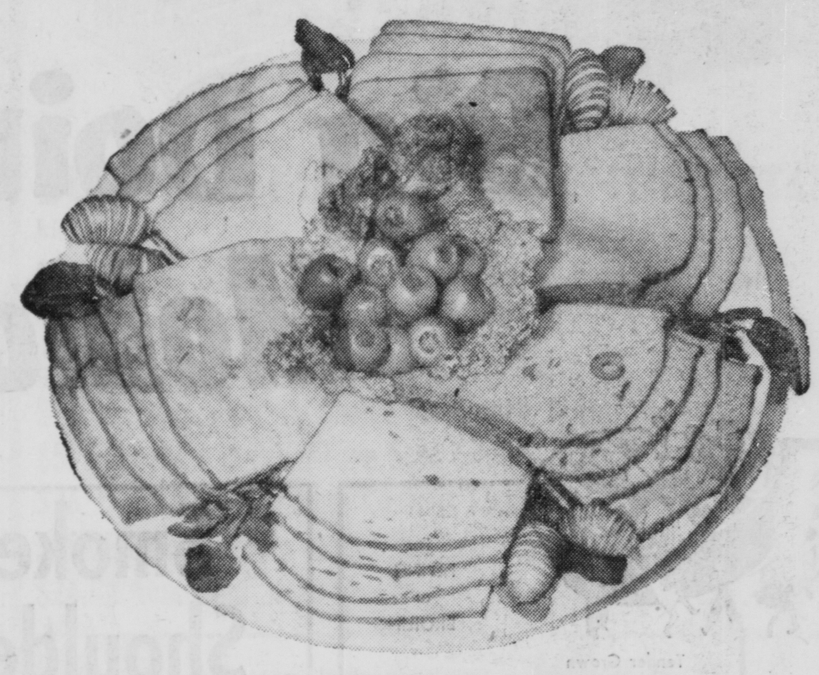

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 2 (AP)—The 640-ton British coal ship Birchgrove Park sank today six miles off the entrance to Sydney harbor. Seven were known dead, 1 missing and 6 were rescued. Survivors, picked up after clinging to wreckage for eight hours, were not able immediately to give a coherent account of what had happened. One theory was that the collier struck a mine that had broken away from a wartime field. Naval riflemen destroyed a floating mine in the same area last month.

London's "great fire" destroyed 13,200 houses on September 2, 1666.

Sizzling Worm

Altoona, Pa. (AP)—Three-year-old Marea Mannion looked down from her swing. "Mama, look at the fishing worm that is sizzling!" she called. "Marea's right, it is sizzling," called Joel, 4½. But when Mrs. Mannion came to look she knew better. The sizzling fishing worm was a rattlesnake — 39 inches long, with six rattles. A neighbor shot the rattler with a target pistol after it had slithered and "sizzled" about the lawn for a while.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

History is repeating itself in the sinking of the luxury liner, Andrea Doria, as folks look back on the sinking of the Titanic in April 1912. Only the Titanic went down in four hours while the Andrea Doria went down in some 10 or 11 hours, which no doubt saved many lives. In all the coverage on the Titanic in books and in movies no mention was made of William Gwynn, a Kingston man, of 53 Linderman avenue, who as a mail clerk on the Titanic went down with his ship. It is covered in our local press of April 1912. Quoting from an April 25th, 1912 issue. The steward says, that he saw Gywnn, and that he recognized him, having met him on the Majestic, an old-time liner of the White Star Line.

According to the Brooklyn Eagle at the time, W. L. Gwynn, 36, had a wife and two small children who lived at Asbury Park, N. J., where they had moved due to his wife's poor health. The steward who was taken off in a life-boat said the last time he saw of Gwynn was while the life-boat crawled away into the night. The mail clerk was then on deck C with the other four clerks, Oscar S. Woody, of Washington, D. C. John S. Marsh of Newark, N. J. Jago B. Smith and E. D. Williamson of England. They were still working over their mail bags, cool and self-contained until the last explosion came, and the darkness and the ocean swallowed them up. On deck, the last the steward had seen Gwynn, he seemed cheerful, and while the last lifeboat was being launched, he, with the other clerks was busily carrying mail, registered parcels and letters first, from the mailing room on deck E up to the deck C, from which they thought perhaps the mail might be carried off and saved. When it became apparent to those remaining on board that the ship was sinking they only worked more quickly and enlisted the services of the stewards still left aboard to aid them that the work might be hastened.

The Kingston mail clerk, W. L. Gwynn, had been connected with the Sea Post Service of the United State government since 1909 and had never been in a disaster at sea before. Previous to his assignment to ocean duty he had been a clerk in the Manhattan post office since 1895. Gwynn had long held a reputation for bravery. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and was at the front in Cuba with the 71st New York Militia, so he seemed to take this disaster in stride which cost him his life. There were 200 sacks of registered mail containing 400,000 pieces aboard the Titanic, according to report of Postmaster General Hitchock. He had nothing but praise for the bravery of the mail clerks in charge as they stuck to their post knowing the Titanic was doomed.

Those who survived the disaster, remember the mail clerks as they continued to transfer bags of registered mail from the ship's post office to the upper deck in hope of saving it. An officer of the Titanic stated that when he last saw these mail clerks they were working in two feet of water. Perhaps local readers remember W. L. Gwynn of Linderman avenue, when this tragedy occurred.

Personality Traits

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Personality traits should be rated one at a time, and over a period of time, not all at once. A Michigan State University psychologist, Dr. Donald M. Johnson, says a person may appear to be a mental genius, and you, impressed by this trait, may overlook how he measures up to such things as kindliness, courage, usefulness and personal appearance. Dr. Johnson calls this partial impression the "halo effect" and says it can be reduced by rating traits one at a time and over a period of time.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Chicken and a bountiful supply of fresh summer vegetables will fill the market basket of many price-conscious housewives this weekend.

In supermarkets and grocery stores across the country, chicken again this week holds on to its summer popularity as the meat most widely listed on special sale.

FISH IS ALSO being emphasized in a number of communities, especially along the east coast, where shoppers will find fresh cod, haddock and swordfish, and in inland lake regions. A midwest special in a number of stores is lake perch.

Beef steaks and rib roasts command higher prices this week in most of the country, reflecting a continued rise in wholesale prices. Cheaper beef cuts, such as chuck and pot roasts, are being featured, however, as weekend specials in many markets.

The summer vegetable crop has brought a wide range of outstanding buys. These include green and yellow squash, which are priced very low in some areas, and cabbage in red, green and savoy varieties. Other low-priced vegetables, generally produced on local farms, are beets, escarole, snap beans, green onions and radishes.

TOMATOES GROWN locally are also coming to the markets as outstanding buys, according to government produce experts, but there is quite a range in quality and size.

Considered good buys are carrots, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, peppers, and corn.

Onion and potato prices continue to ease as eastern and northern farmers ship early crops to the market, but prices are still well above last year. Many of the locally grown potatoes are also of small size.

LIMES REMAIN in abundant supply and are generally the only fruit available as an outstanding buy. Good buys include such summer specials as blueberries, watermelons and plums.

Early cooking apples are coming in larger volume in most areas now and prices are getting close to the good buy level. Peaches are also in better supply but in some wholesale markets prices were a little higher this week for quality fruit.

150 Participate In Presentation Vacation School

Approximately 150 children of grade school age from Port Ewen, Esopus and neighboring areas have attended summer church school each morning for the past two weeks of July at the shrine of Our Lady of the Hudson, Presentation Parish.

The two-week summer program was arranged by the pastor, the Very Rev. Joseph Comyns, CSsR, and his assistants the Rev. Joseph Kerins, CSsR of Presentation Church, and the Rev. Joseph Wall, CSsR of Sacred Heart. It was designed to give the children of their parishes a practical course in religion and an added spiritual flavor to their summer vacation.

FROM BROOKLYN three Sisters of Saint Joseph, Sister Mary Helen , Sister James Immaculate, and Sister Loyola Marie, had most of the responsibility of teaching the practical course in religion while three newly ordained Redemptorist priests, Father Peter Gallacher, Father James Burke and Father George Bryan, CSsR organized the recreational program.

The program was underway each morning by 9 a. m. Transportation was furnished by Chappie's Taxi. At 9 a. m. Mass was celebrated by one of the Redemptorists while another gave and explanation of the Mass to the children as it was in progress.

AFTER MASS the Sisters took charge, first by presenting an interesting film in color on some point of Catholic Faith. Then dividing the children into three age groups, each sister taught religion until 11 a. m.

Refreshments were distributed by 10 high school girls of the parish who helped in every way possible throughout the program.

The recreational period followed the refreshments until 1 o'clock. Both priests and sisters participated with and directed the children in their games.

Typhoon Hits Red China

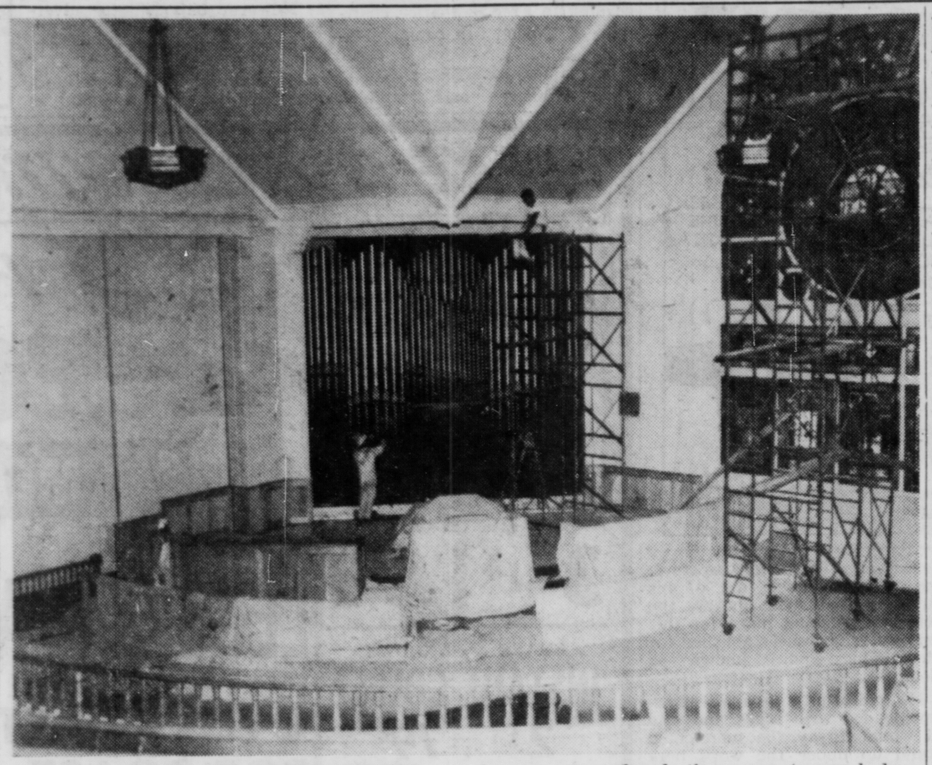

Hong Kong, Aug. 2 (AP)—Typhoon Wanda hit Red China's Chekiang coast today and fringe winds raked Shanghai. The Peiping radio said a thousand huts on Shankhai's outskirts were wrecked and nearly two feet of water flooded parts of the city. The typhoon packs winds of more than 100 miles an hour. It struck northwestward across the East China Sea yesterday after hitting the north of Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese stronghold where six persons were killed and 10,000 left homeless, and sideswiping the American fortress island of Okinawa.

GE Strike About Over

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—A strike of about 3,500 workers at a General Electric Co. shop appeared over today as a majority of the strikers returned to their jobs. A company spokesman said enough workers had returned to enable the shop to resume production of steamturbine generators. Leaders of Local 301, International Union of Electrical Workers, had said that the strike was not authorized by the union and that they would try to persuade the workers to return and await negotiations on their complaint.

The city treasurer's office today reported $4,300 collected from the city's parking meters in July. This was $100 more than the June total, and $350 more than the July, 1955 total.

Prisoners Join Denver Folk in Flood Clean-up

Denver, Aug. 2 (AP)—City employes and county jail inmates, working 'round-the-clock shifts, joined thousands of south Denver residents in a muddy clean-up operation today in the wake of floods that caused an estimated five million dollars damage.

Rains that sent waters up to eight feet deep cascading through some low areas of the city diminished today, but some light showers were predicted.

IN SOME AREAS, residents estimated rainfall totaled up to 10 inches—half the normal precipitation for the average year.

The fourth consecutive day of the storm activity over the eastern half of the state claimed its third and fourth victims late Wednesday. A two-car collision on a rain-slicked highway in southern Colorado took the lives of two motorists. The first two deaths also were blamed on wet highways.

As federal officials awaited action on a request that Denver, Arapahoe and Jefferson counties be designated a flood disaster area, 600 city employes and 45 county jail inmates were thrown in the Colorado capital's biggest repair job in years.

Richard Batterton, public works director, said the city workers will be used to repair damage to sewers, roads and bridges—a job he said will require at least two weeks. Later Batterton said the work crews will be assigned to help individual home owners in their messy task.

TONS OF MUD and debris were borne down the south Platte river, which courses through the heart of the city, and minor tributaries, along city streets and even the multi-million-dollar highway, a freeway where water backed up eight feet deep and six blocks long at one point.

Highways along the rocky mountain foothills were blocked momentarily by heavy rains and rockslides, but all were reported open last night.

Coal Negotiations Aim to Cut Strikes

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The man just chosen to represent the soft coal industry in future negotiations with John L. Lewis feels prospects are good for continued labor peace in the bituminous fields.

He is Edward G. Fox, 55, a soft-spoken hard coal executive already accustomed to dealing with Lewis, president of the independent United Mine Workers Union (UMW).

A veteran of 30 years as a mining engineer, Fox has been chief labor negotiator for anthracite interests and president of the Reading Anthracite Co.

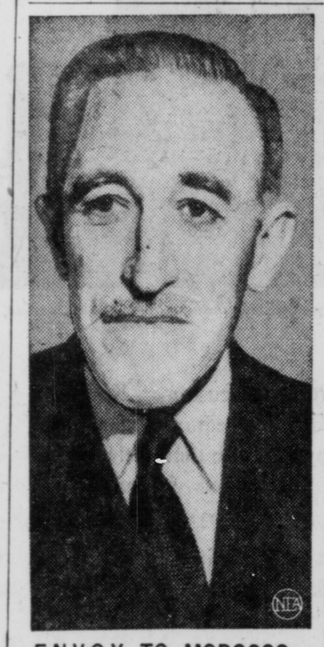

Fox's election yesterday as president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn. puts him in a similar role as principal labor relations man for the biggest soft coal industry.

Asked whether he expects to keep up the soft coal record of nerly six years without major strikes, Fox replied that was his aim.

"I certainly hope to continue this peaceful era of labor relations without resort to work stoppages," he said in an interview.

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 2 (AP)—Former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh will be released from prison Saturday, a spokesman of the military governor's office said today. The spokesman said in an interview Mossadegh was today told to pack up his belongings—mainly some 200 medical and legal books— crowding his small cell in Ghassar barracks. Mossadegh was sentenced Dec. 21, 1953, to three years solitary confinement after being convicted by a military court on 13 charges of attempting to overthrow the Shah's regime and illegally dissolving parliament. Time served awaiting trial counted toward his sentence.

Two Po'keepsie Banks to Merge

The Poughkeepsie Trust Company and the Merchants National Bank and Trust Company plan to merge. The consolidated bank will be a state-chartered institution and will be known as the Dutchess Bank and Trust Co. The presidents of the banks say directors of both banks have approved the merger.

The consolidation is subject to approval of the State Superintendent of Banks, the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Reserve Board and stockholders of both banks.

With Trust Company assets now listed at $11,000,000 and Merchants Bank at $6,000,000, the new bank would have capital funds of about $1,600,000 and total resources of $17,000,000.

The Merchants Bank building will be remodeled for operations of the new bank and the Trust Company building will be sold.

In a joint statement, the presidents of both banks said the "for some time it has been evident that Poughkeepsie and Dutchess county required a consolidation of facilities such as this to provide a larger, better-rounded institution to supply the banking needs of this growing community."

Planes May Have Been Locked In Fatal Embrace

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Testimony to federal investigators posed the possibility today that two airliners may have remained locked in fatal embrace for miles before they plummeted into Grand Canyon last June 30, killing 128 persons.

The chance that this happened was posed by the statement of a young couple that they saw two airplanes, corresponding to the description of the Trans World Airliners Constellation and the United Air Lines DC7, come together at a point perhaps as much as 70 miles from the area where the wrecks were found.

Appearing as witnesses yesterday before an investigating panel of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Seifer of Ottawa, Ohio, testified that:

On vacation, they were driving westward between Flagstaff and Wiona, Ariz., when through a hole in the clouds they caught a glimpse of two aircraft flying generally eastward.

One plane, which Seifer said was a DC7, was flying above the other as their paths came together. He said he was certain the aircraft "collided." After the two planes "locked together" or "merged" they continued soaring on until the couple lost sight of them. They saw no fire, smoke or falling debris.

The interval during which the aircraft were visible through a hole in the clouds lasted only about 10 seconds, Siefer estimated.

Ulster Hopes

The department said that amount, with local and federal contributions, would have provided for programs costing a total of $200,000.

Supervisor Bush said today the program in the town of Ulster would cost a total of $19,000—of which 50 per cent would be paid by the federal government, 25 per cent by the state and 25 per cent by the township. It would be a 16-month program with Fredeerick Clarke of Rye, formerly of Kingston, noted planning consultant, conducting the survey.

power project. The total cost is estimated at $35,000.

However, the application filed with the HHFA covers only the first-year cost, $17,500. Of that amount, the state will pay $4,375 and the town and village of Massena $4,375. The federal government will pay the other half of the $17,500.

The Monticello program, resulting from reconstruction of Route 17, is expected to cost $12,360. But the amount involved in the HHFA application is only $3,100 because only $775 was available in state funds, according to the commerce department.

Previously the department approved programs of urban planning for Catskill, Oneida, Oswego, Peekskill, Sloatsburg and the town of Ulster. These programs, together with the Massena and Monticello programs, are expected to cost a total of $100,000.

The department pointed out that Gov. Harriman had asked for a $50,000 state appropriation for assistance in urban planning.

Brutality Bared At Georgia Prison

Buford, Ga., Aug. 2 (AP)—A slim, 20-year-old prisoner testified today to guard brutality at Georgia's rock quarry prison where 41 prisoners smashed and beat their legs this week in protest against conditions.

APPEARING AS witness before a joint committee of the Georgia Senate and House, the convicted robber said the guards "slap you if you don't do something promptly and if you don't say 'boss' after he asks you a question.

At the direction of Jack Forrester, director of corrections, Sen. D. B. Blalock, acting committee chairman, names of prisoner-witnesses were withheld.

IN REPLY TO a question by Sen. George Brooks of Crawford, the young convict told of his duties in the rock quarry, the principal working place for this prison which was established for incorrigibles and is known as Georgia's "Little Alcatraz."

He told of pushing a wheelbarrow loaded with rocks and said "I wouldn't say the men could stand up under the work here very long. Pushing wheelbarrows gets your feet so you can hardly go on."

Asked how the guards treated the men, the slim prisoner said "I have seen men hit with a slapstick, I've seen them hit a lot of times."

No Bids on Job To Enlarge Fire Hall at Tillson

No bids were received for work covering alterations and additions to Tillson firehall according to Fred Palmatier, chairman of Tillson fire commissioners staff.

The fire district voted approval of changes and additions which would enlarge the engine room by 12 feet to the front in order to house three or more pieces of apparatus.

At present the district owns two trucks and the fire company owns a tank truck.

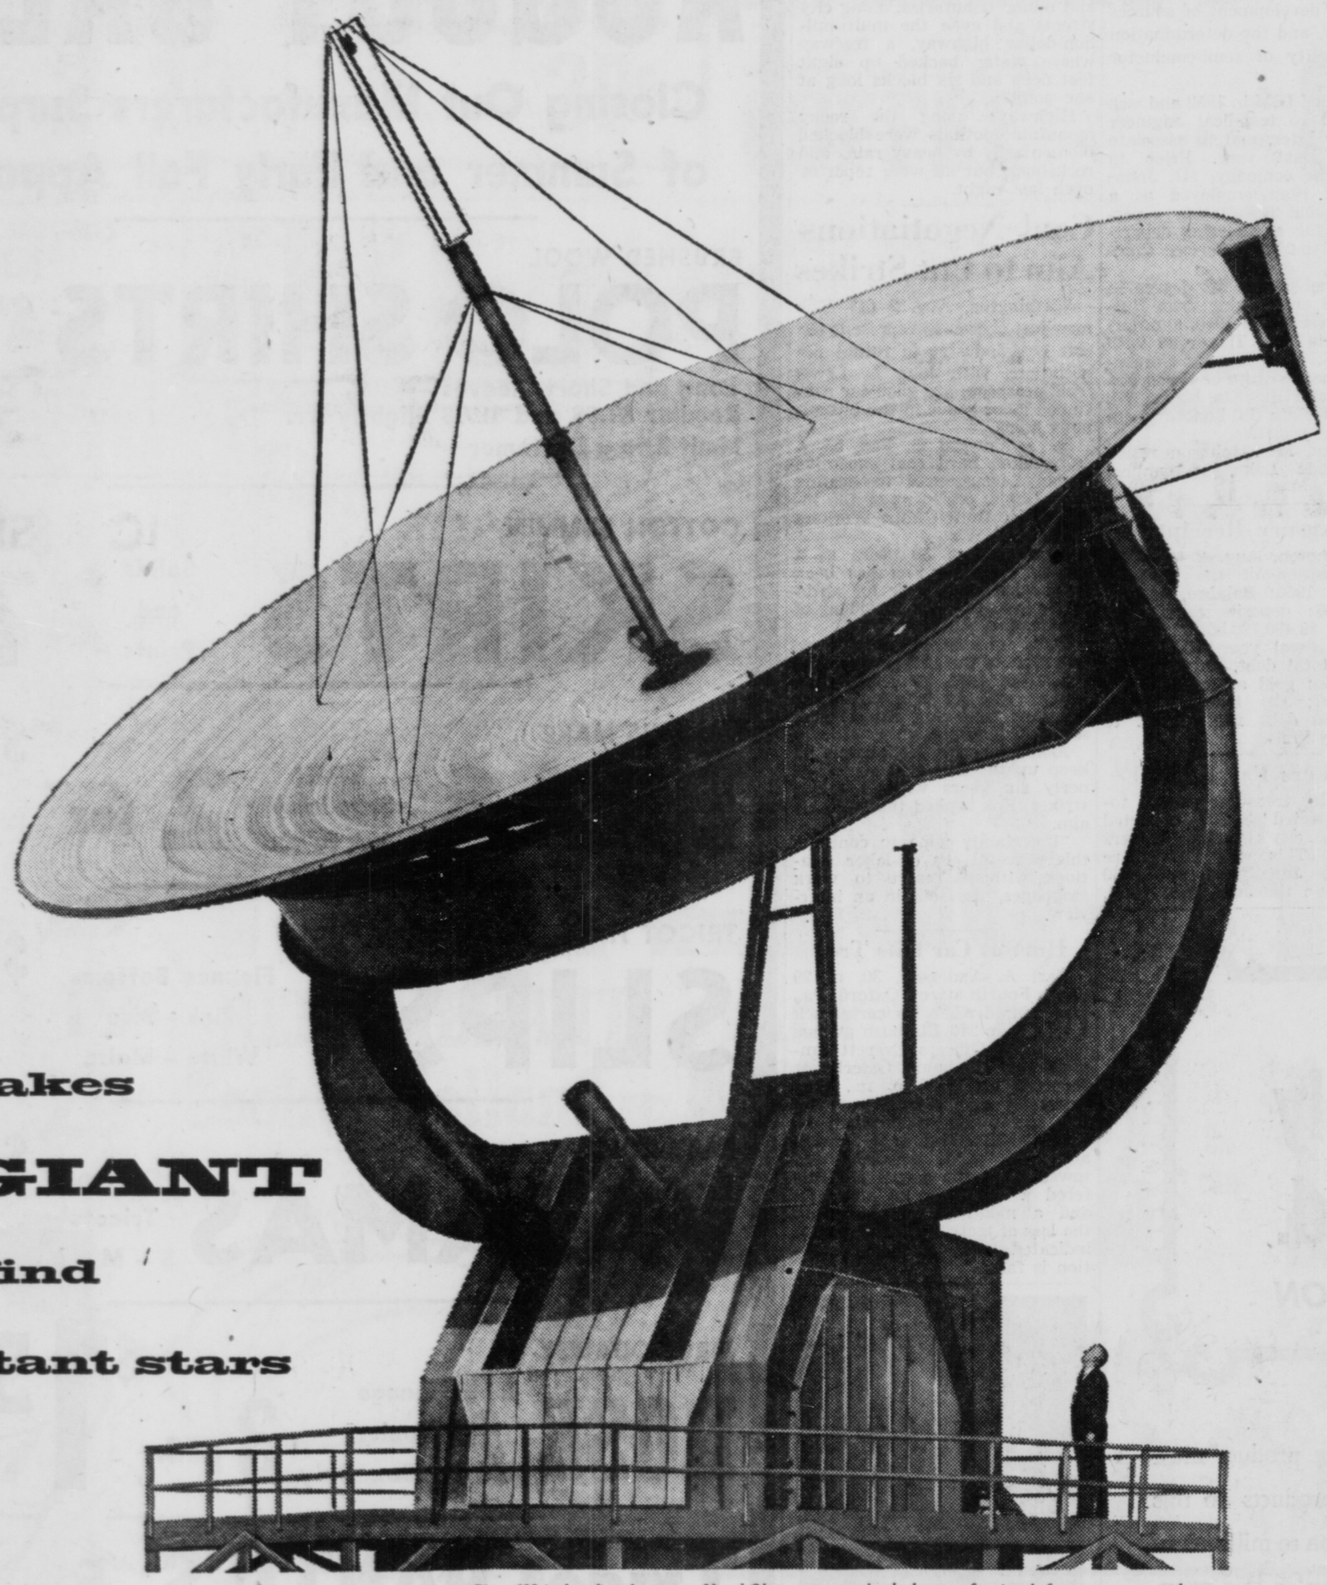

The original plans called for completion of the work by Nov. 1. However bids will be advertised again at a date to be announced and a new deadline will be set.

Mr. Palmatier said that there are some parties interested in bidding on the work when it is advertised again.

Ticket Demand Is Reported Heavy for 50th Ahavath Dinner

Indications are that a capacity audience will be on hand for the 50th anniversary celebration of Congregation Ahavath Israel during a dinner Sunday night, Aug. 19, at Granite Orchard Hotel and Country Club in Accord.

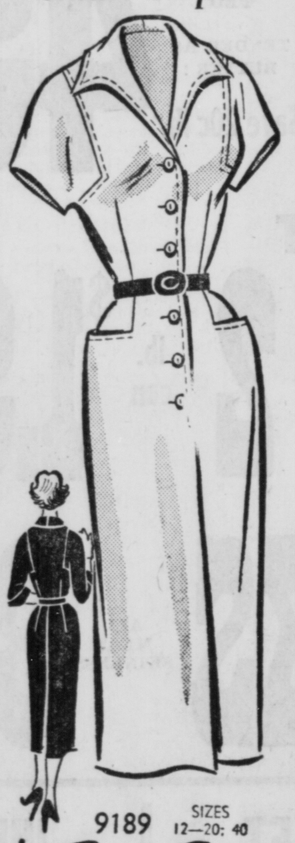

This was pointed out today by Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman, who said that due to a heavy demand for dinner tickets, the time for the meal has been changed to 8:30 o'clock. Dancing, a cocktail hour and serving of hors d' oeuvres will take place between 7 and 8 o'clock, instead of from 6 to 7 o'clock as previously announced.

A special New York floor show will be booked for entertainment following the 8:30 o'clock dinner.

Another event marking the golden jubilee celebration of the congregation will be a special service on Friday, Aug. 17, at the synagogue, Wurts street and corner of Pierpont street.

Working with Chairman Rafalowsky for the celebration planning are Benjamin Schecter, co-chairman and toastmaster; Larry Jacobs, president of the congregation; Ephraim Propp, secretary; Alex Woolf, historian and Aaron Adin.

WHO TAKES THE SEAT

What is proper in the following situation: A boy and a girl enter a bus and the girl finds a seat and the boy stands talking to her. Meanwhile another girl, a stranger, gets into the bus and stands next to the boy. The seat next to his girl friend is then vacated. May the boy take this seat beside his girl friend or must he let the strange girl, standing next to him, sit down in it?"

He must offer it to the strange girl. If she were not nearby, he could take it.

Obligations to Her Family

Dear Mrs. Post: My son eloped with a girl who lives in another city. I met the girl two or three times but her family are complete strangers to me. I would like to know what my obligations are toward her family. Am I supposed to write her mother a letter? If so, will you please give me some idea of what to say?

Answer: After you have welcomed the daughter-in-law, you should write her mother and say that you hope to meet her soon and say something nice about your daughter-in-law.

Inviting Fellow Employes

Dear Mrs. Post: I work in an office with 15 other employes. I would like to invite them to my wedding but do not feel that I can ask their husbands and wives too as the cost will run too high. Will it be improper to invite the employes only? Please let me hear from you as I have to send my invitations within the next week.

Answer: One invitation to the office saying that you would be glad to have any of them come that would like to would be quite proper. But do not send an individual invitation without including husband and wife.

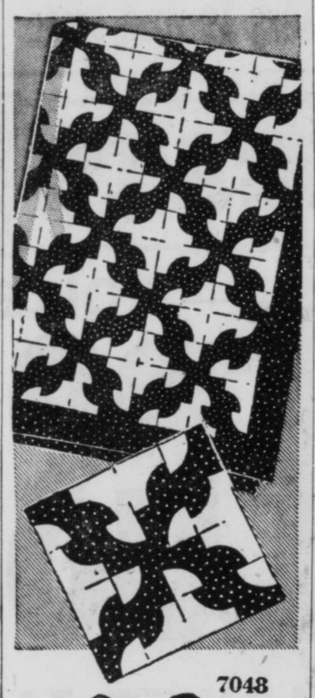

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. This and other details are described in leaflet E-2, "Wedding Procedure." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Artistic and Box Office Success Crowns Second Season of Empire Music Festival

The tremendous artistic and box-office success of the Empire State Music Festival in Ellenville, in this, its second season, which drew to a close July 29, assures the permanence of the fete located in the heart of the Rip Van Winkle country in the Catskills.

This pronouncement was made by general manager Frank Forest on behalf of the directors of the music center, who simultaneously announced a minimum five week season for 1957 beginning July 4 and ending August 8. Next year's program, as in the past, will include symphonic, operatic, stage and ballet presentations. An additional feature will highlight soloists of international reputation on concert nights and matinees.

Although only 16 performances were given this season by comparison to 25 offered in the summer of 1955, its inaugural year, the 1956 program outdrew last year's by more than 3,000. The complete attendance figure this season was 62,428. The program that attracted the most people was "A Midsummer Night's Dream" with 18,210 for three performances. Next was the "Emperor Jones" ballet with 10,815 for two performances.

Recognizing the pulling power of new works, it is the desire of the Festival directors, Mr. Forest states, to again include new compositions at the fete next summer, one or two of which may be commissioned. This year the fete introduced both a world premiere and an American premiere of new works by noted composers, the first, a commissioned work, by Heitor Villa-Lobos for the "Emperor Jones" ballet, which Jose Limon choreographed and appeared in as principal dancer, the second a new score by Carl Orff for a full stage production of Shakespeares "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Leopold Stokowski conducted the latter with the Symphony of the Air. Included in the cast of 70 for this production were Basil Rathbone and Red Buttons. Basil Langton directed the Bard's comedy.

Several physical changes in the plant incidentally, are contemplated for next season to increase audience visibility. The stage will be redesigned to give it more of a rake and the grounds outside the tent graded upward for a better view of the stage. It is expected also that better road facilities will be provided.

A most significant factor in the success of the festival this year was the close co-operation that existed between Sullivan and Ulster counties with respect to the fete located in Ulster county. A regular bus service between the counties was put into operation with local newspapers and radio stations cooperating to the fullest extent. It is expected that by next year additional counties in the area will come into the fold to assure the continued success of the festival.

"It has been a banner year for us, both artistically and financially, despite a loss of $50,000 in our operation," states Mr. Forest. "We have cut our deficit by one-third over last year and we believe we can reduce it another third in 1957 and perhaps become self sustaining by 1958. The Festival, as you may know, is a non-profit operation and only by getting the fullest support of the Catskill communities as well as music lovers from all over the State and nation can we in time achieve our goal of making the Empire State Music Festival one of the best in the United States. It has already, if I may be permitted to say so, reached an artistic level second to none."

Checking Story NAACP Has No Goods to Attach

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 2 (AP)—The Attorney General's office is checking a statement that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People owns almost no real property in Alabama.

The NAACP made the statement Monday to Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones, who had required a list of property among other Alabama records. When the NAACP refused to hand over all the records Jones ordered, he found the organization in contempt of court and fined it $100,000.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Edmon L. Rinehart said yesterday the state is looking around to see what property could be attached to collect the fine. He added, however, that the state will take no action to collect the money until Aug. 24.

That will be the end of a 30-day period since Jones levied the fine. During the 30 days the NAACP can ask the Alabama Supreme Court to review the contempt fine.

Robert Carter, NAACP attorney from New York, said Tuesday a request for review would be filed as soon as possible. Under Alabama law action on the fine will be suspended until the review is settled.

Until the fine is paid or overthrown, the NAACP cannot proceed against a June 1 injunction barring its activities in Alabama. Patterson had asked the records in connection with the injunction.

When the NAACP offered to produce some records, it told Jones its only Alabama property was about $400 worth of office equipment in its southeastern headquarters at Birmingham.

"Naturally, we're not going to rely on that" statement, Rinehart said. "If we locate property we have reason to believe they are going to take out of the state before the review period elapses, of course we would have it attached to keep it around."

Grace Will Have February Baby

Monte Carlo, Monaco, Aug. 2 (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco, is going to have a baby in February, the Palace announced today.

The Princess, formerly actress Grace Kelly of Philadelphia, was married to Prince Ranier III of Monaco, in ceremonies here April 18 and 19.

By the terms of a treaty with France, this principality on the Mediterranean becomes subject to French taxes, and its men to the French draft, if Ranier dies without an heir.

Today's announcement said:

"His Serene Highness Prince Ranier III, Prince Sovereign of Monaco, announced today in a broadcast message to his people that her Serene Highness, Princess Grace, is expecting a baby to be born in the month of February.

"Following this announcement, the Prince pointed out the capital importance of the plans and projects for the future economic development of the principality in the light of this rejoicing news."

Arthur Goldstein, 30, of Brooklyn, who suffered a possible fracture of the right shoulder in a two-car collision Wednesday afternoon on Route 52, a half mile west of Greenfield Park, was treated at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, and released.

Ellenville state police, who investigated, said Mr. Goldstein was traveling west upgrade when he was in collision with a vehicle operated by Donald Lamont, 20, of Middleburg, traveling east downgrade.

Mr. Lamont reportedly was unable to stop in time to avoid a car ahead of him and swerved into the westbound lane, colliding with the Goldstein car. The Goldstein car overturned.

Report Reveals 'Big Three' Auto Production Down

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP)—The auto industry's "Big Three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler built 3,510,736 passenger cars in the first seven months of 1956. The total compares with 4,668,605 car assemblies in the comparable 1955 period.

The figures were tabulated today as the larger car makers announced their monthly production totals. The smaller companies did not announce their July assemblies but they built an estimated 128,000 (T) units in the January-July period.

The figures announced included 218,414 car assemblies in July by General Motors car divisions to bring the year's output through July 31 to 1,947,776 cars. In July 1955 GM divisions built 266,321 cars to make a seven-months total that year of 2,453,242 cars.

Ford built 145,685 cars last month for a 1956 seven-months total of 1,014,533 cars. In July last year Ford built 177,169 cars for a seven-months total of 1,327,695.

Chrysler Corp. built 74,518 cars last month for a 1956 total through July of 548,427. In July last year Chrysler built 94,645 cars for a seven-months total that year of 887,668.

658 New Polio Cases Reported

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The states reported 658 new polio cases last week. This was an increase of 125 over the previous week but again it was the lowest number for the comparable week since 1947.

A Public Health Service spokesman said Illinois, with 158 cases last week, continues to be the only state in which there is a severe concentration of cases in a specific area. There is an outbreak of the disease in part of Chicago.

The only other states reporting more than 50 cases each last week were California with 74 and Texas with 63. In the comparable 1955 week Massachusetts topped the states with 204 and six other states had 50 or more.

Since the polio disease year started April 1 there had been 3,490 cases through July 28, down more than a third from the 5,457 in the same 1955 span.

There had been 4,557 cases since Jan. 1, compared with 6,520 to this point a year ago.

Paula Karpen Weds Patrick Scarselli

On Saturday, July 28, at 12 o'clock noon, Miss Paula Karpen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Rostveit of Saugerties, became the bride of Patrick Scarselli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Scarselli of Saugerties.

The Rev. Archibald Damm performed the double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church in Glasco.

Soloist for the occasion was Miss Theresa Sasso and Patrick Buonfiglio was at the organ.

White pompons and white gladioli decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of French imported Chantilly lace over bridal satin styled with a Sabrina neckline accented with seed pearls and sequins, short sleeves and lace mitts to match. Her bouffant skirt of nylon tulle ruffles terminated in a chapel train. A French imported silk illusion, triple tier veil was gathered to a crown of pearls and sequins. The bride carried two white orchids.

Mrs. Frances Vicedomini of Brooklyn was the matron of honor for her sister. She wore a mint green nylon gown styled with a long torso and waltz length skirt. She also wore a matching stole and matching mitts. Mrs. Vicedomini carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Serving as bridesmaids were Patricia Anderson of Saugerties, Bernice Buono and Rosemary Gatti of Glasco.

The bridesmaids wore gowns similar to the matron of honor only in yellow with hats and mitts to match. They carried bouquets of mint green daisies.

Anthony Scarselli of Saugerties was the best man for his brother. Ushers included Albert Scarselli of Glasco, brother of the bridegroom, Joseph Scarselli and Fred Gentel of Glasco.

Following the church wedding, a reception was held at the Flamingo for approximately 150 guests.

Mrs. Scarselli is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed as a waitress. Her husband is a graduate of the Glasco School and is associated with his father in business.

For her wedding trip to New York city, the bride wore a black and red sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of two white orchids.

Shocked by Hodge

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP)—Friends say that before H. Kendall Olds died he expressed disillusionment in his former boss, ousted State Auditor Orville E. Hodge who is involved in a million dollar fund scandal. Olds' body was found floating in Lake Springfield yesterday, across the water from Hodge's spacious Lakeside home. Hodge, who hired Olds to be his publicity aide, commented through his attorney: "I am shocked beyond words.. "Hodge broke my heart," Olds' wife quoted him as saying a week ago after federal and state indictments had been returned charging Hodge with mishandling funds.

Crash Kills Three

Erie, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP)—Three young Erie women were killed and two men were injured early today in a three-way crash at the intersection of Routes 5 and 98, about 8 miles west of Erie. State police said the collision involved a tractor trailer owned by Trans-American Trucking and two autos. The dead were in one vehicle. They were identified as Brenda Howell, 16, Sandra Lee Chase, both of Erie, and Mrs. Nanette Caughlin, 19, mother of two, of Lake City, a suburb of Erie.

Plans for New Stores

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—A furniture store executive has announced plans for the formation of a national chain of 15 or 20 furniture stores. Arthur Victor Jr., president of A. Victor & Co., said yesterday that the plan called for the establishment of a multi-million-dollar holding company with the stores in the chain operating as divisions and wholly-owned subsidiaries. Victor predicted the chain would gross from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 within two or three years.

Amateur Beekeeper

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—An estimated 8,000 to 10,00 bees swarmed atop a downtown traffic light and sent pedestrians scurrying. Charles McGhee, a lens grinder for an optical company, cleared up the jam when he got a box and ladder from a nearby store and after about half an hour coaxed the queen and her followers into the makeshift hive. McGhee, an amateur beekeeper, later transferred the swarm to a hive at his home.

Yells of Ride 'em Cowboy at Fair

It has been many a moon since Orange County folks have seen a real western rodeo and wild west show.

On Sunday, Aug. 12th the Orange County Fair will present The Black Diamond outfit in the wildest of all western shows and rodeos for just two performances. The afternoon thrills will start at 2 o'clock and the evening repeat will be at 8 o'clock.

The Black Diamond Rodeo and Wild West at the Fair will bristle with the call of "Ride 'Em Cowboy" as we have never heard it before.

Stadium admission is $1.20 for adults and 60c for children and the price in the annex will be 30c and 80c.

Oh, and we almost forgot to mention the clowns and the trick riders, but you can be sure that they'll be there.—ADV.

Coffee trees begin to bear fruit when they are three years old and usually produce for about 20 to 50 years.

Cancer Crusade Total $20,862, Still Short $850

A total of $20,862.09 has been received to date in the 10th anniversary Cancer Crusade campaign in Ulster county according to Andrew S. Hickey, publicity chairman.

With a goal of $21,700, approximately $850 is still required for the success of the campaign, Mr. Hickey said.

Most of the townships and the city of Kingston have been generous, however, there are still several townships that are well below their contributions of previous years, he said.

Several of the townships in sparsely populated areas of the county have done extremely well and are to be congratulated, he said.

"If everyone in the county would contribute one cent to this campaign now it would mean that the goal would be attained with some to spare," Mr. Hickey said.

The youth was sentenced to serve 10 days in the Ulster county jail.

Young Shirk's license was revoked Monday when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie of Salem.

The youth, was arrested about 4 p. m. yesterday by Constable Peter Peterson of the town of Esopus.

Shirk was also arrested Monday in Rifton by Constable Peterson as an unsupervised learner and for driving without adequate brakes. He was fined $25 or 25 days on each count.

Stevenson Shows Illinois Gain

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today showed a gain in strength in a new Associated Press poll of Illinois delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

A telephone survey was made in the wake of the withdrawal of Sen. Estes Kefauver from the contest for the party's presidential nomination.

The latest tabulation — in terms of votes to be cast at the convention—gave Stevenson 30, and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri 1.

In a mid-June poll Stevenson had 19½, Symington 1 and Kefauver 1.

In the latest survey, delegates with 9 votes reported they were undecided and others with 5½ votes chose to remain silent on their preferences.

The balance of the delegation, representing 18½ votes, could not be reached. They were out of town on business or vacation or unavailable.

Discrimination Wanes, More Are Making Protests

New Work, Aug. 2 (AP)—The State Commission Against Discrimination says semi-annual statistics show a marked improvement in the attitude of employers toward hiring persons in minority groups, but there has been a sharp upswing in the number of complaints.

Commission Chairman Charles Abrams said yesterday the agency's report shows that employers who previously did not hire minorities under any circumstances now are hiring them.

He also said that considerable progress was being made in advancing minority labor into better paying jobs.

Verified complaints to the commission the first six months of this year, he said, totaled 332 compared with a total of 398 for all of 1955.

The commissioner, however, attributed the rise in complaints to a growing awareness of the protections afforded by the anti-discrimination law. Ninety-two per cent of the discrimination complaints were received in the commission's New York city office, he said.

To Map Strategy On Nematodes, Farmers' Enemy

College Park, Md., Aug. 2 (AP)—Plant pathologists from nine northeastern states will meet here next week to map strategy for a war they are planning against nematodes—microscopic animals which cost billions of dollars annually in crop damage.

The weeklong workshop Aug. 6-11 at the University of Maryland will be sponsored by a northeast regional council of scientists from Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The regional project, set up under a $25,000-a-year federal grant, is investigating the biology and control of nematodes associated with plant disease.

So new is the field of nematology that there are only about 30 graduate nematologists in the United States at present. Five of them will take part in the workshop here next month.

Not too much is known about these microscopic pests. The scientists meeting here next month hope to find out more.

It is estimated that nematodes are causing a yearly loss of at least one-tenth of the farmers' gross income.

They attack, for the most part, the roots of trees, flowers, fruits and most kinds of crops.

In Maryland, this loss would be about 12 million dollars a year. Across the nation, nematologists estimate the loss at about two billion dollars a year. It may be much higher.

Nemotologists who will be conducting the workshop sessions in addition to Dr. Jenkins are A. L. Taylor, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's section on nematology; Clive A. Loos, University of Rhode Island; Dr. William F. Mai and Dr. A. J. Braun of Cornell University.

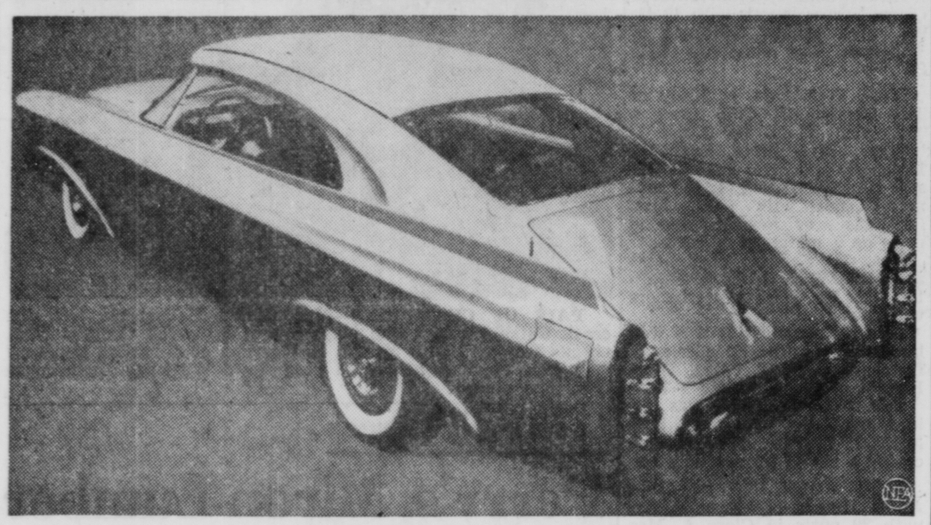

Lead Police to Body

White Cloud, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Two ragged, young children found wandering in a nearby rural community led police last night to a small hunting shack where their father lay dead—shot through the back. Newaygo County Sheriff Robert Dougan said the bullet that killed the man matched the caliber of the gun carried in a shoulder holster strapped around the waist of the youngest boy, 6. Dougan identified the dead man as Louis F. Dishaw Jr., 33, a Grand Rapids factory worker. He estimated Dishaw had been dead two or three days.

MAN ON A CROSS—A curious crowd, paying one dollar each for the privilege, gazes at Tagore, a 27-year-old Mexican Indian. He was nailed to a cross for his performance in a Reynosa, Mexico, bullfight ring. After being moved to a downtown street, he remained on the cross for 46 hours, allegedly without food or water. At the end of his ordeal, he was said to be weak, but otherwise in good shape. The stunt was denounced in the Reynosa churches the previous Sunday, and a comparatively small crowd was on hand for the nailing. Tagore claims that his only competitor in the act bled to death after a similar performance some months ago.

DREAM ITEM FOR DAVY JONES' LOCKER—A $150,000 Chrysler dream car, which took more than two years to design and build, went down with the ill-fated Italian liner Andrea Doria. The car had no door or front posts, but cantilever arches on each side. However, the dream model, designed in America and hand-built in Italy, was insured.

Conditions Are Good

Bernard Conway of Kingston and Julia Rinaldi, 27, of Poughkeepsie, who were injured in a one-car accident Tuesday morning on Route 9W half a mile south of Highland traffic circle, were reported in good condition today at Vassar Bros. Hospital. Both were reported able to be out of bed and expected to be discharged this week. A 1956 sedan operated by Mr. Conway reportedly went out of control and plunged into a gasoline station.

Woinoski 'Good'

Albert Woinoski, 18, of 70 Murray street, who suffered injuries Monday night in a vehicular accident on the River road, Port Ewen, was reported in "good" condition today at Benedictine Hospital. The youth suffered lacerations of the face and head injuries when a 1939 sedan operated by Thomas Van Etten, Jr., 16, of 11 Abbey street, went out of control and struck a parked car.

Buses Run Again In Tallahassee

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 2 (AP)—Bus service on both white and Negro routes was resumed in Tallahassee today after a month-long suspension caused by a Negro boycott.

Service was restored on the same segregated seating basis which had led to the boycott. It was reported, however, that more than 900 Negroes had signed petitions for resumption of service.

The suspension came about because of financial losses suffered by the Cities Transit Co., when the boycott eliminated a good part of its patronage.

The Chamber of Commerce spearheaded a "Ride the Bus" campaign and routes have been tailored to meet demand as indicated in a survey.

Manager Charles Carter of the bus company reported a "tremendous response" from residents of Negro areas who want to return to the buses.

Flying Lawn Chair

Mustang, Okla. (AP) — Five-year-old Garland and 3-year-old Paul Dalton, snug in their grandfather's storm cellar when twin tornadoes skidded over Mustang, started a search for their miniature metal lawn chair. The boys found the chair twisted about a fence post a hundred yards from the home of their grandpop, E. G. Dalton. Dalton said the chair had been behind a small gamebird house that was wrecked in the storm.

156th to Leave Friday for Drum

The 156th Field Artillery Battalion of the New York National Guard will entruck at midnight Friday for 15 days of field training at Camp Drum.

When the guardsmen leave for camp there will be no railroad cars or commercial vans to assist them with the extras for the battalion will load and entruck combat style.

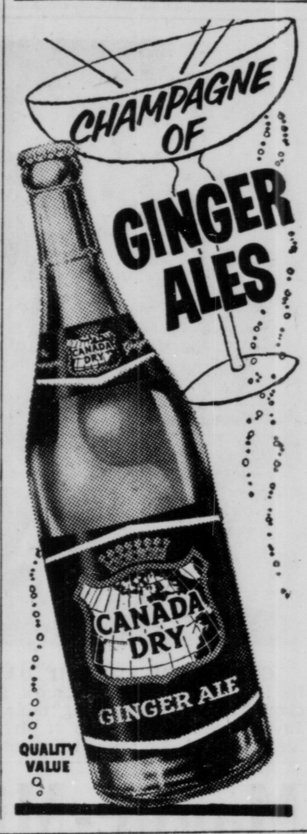

All the training and experience of the past will be tested including the night motor march 226 miles to an unknown area, 70 trucks of all types, trailers, small arms, kitchens and 450 civilian soldiers ready to face the test.

The rapid occupation of gun positions, survey, security against patrols, establishment of sanitary facilities, kitchen areas and ammunition depots and the establishment of an efficient motor maintenance area to care for the vehicles, refueling, repairs and mileage checks will be part of the exercises.

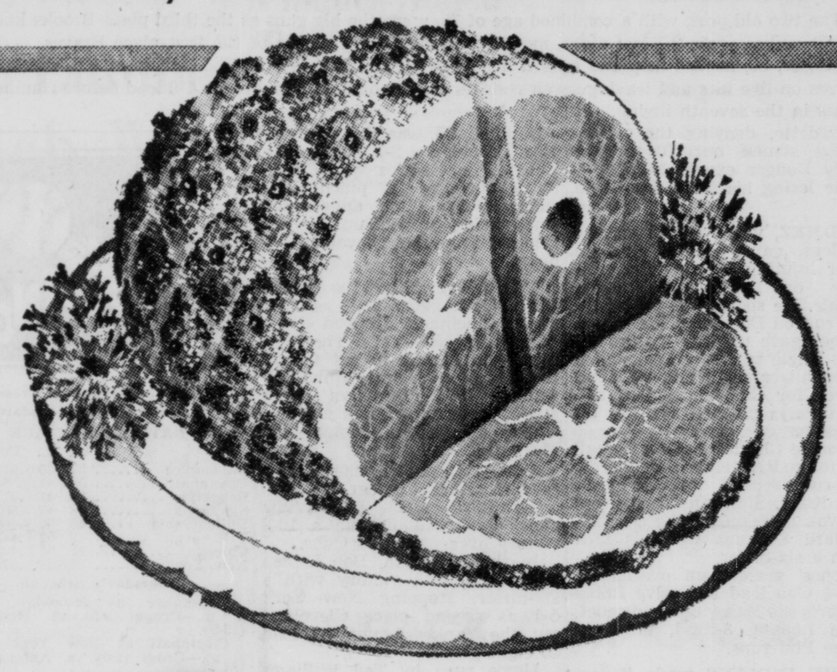

Church services will be held in field Sunday morning at which time chaplains will join the unit for this occasion.

Two More Posts Filled

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Republicans filled two more national convention posts today with the selection of Nyle M. Jackson, of Seymour, Ind., as assistant chief sergeant-at-arms of the radio-TV section and Russell D. Rouch of Springfield, Ohio, having the same rank for the press section. Jackson is administrative assistant to Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.). Rouch is a veteran chairman of the Republican organization of Clark county, Ohio.

Maglie-Mitchell, 75-Year Old Tandem, Does It for Brooklyn

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Brooklyn's Dodgers are winning the big games again in the National League pennant race, but look who's doing it for 'em—one-time nemesis Sal Maglie and Dale Mitchell, who wasn't even in the league two days ago.

The two old pros, with a combined age of 75, were the big guns as the third place Brooks knocked off Milwaukee again 2-1 last night, moving to within three games of the first place Braves.

Maglie, 39, needed help and missed his 100th victory, but he was The Barber of old, calming the Braves on five hits and leaving seven runners stranded while protecting a 1-0 lead before running out of gas in the seventh inning.

Burdette, denying the spitter charge, struck out 10—getting every Dodger except Mitchell—while losing his sixth. He's won 12.

GOMEZ, who was 0-3 vs. the Redlegs, gave way to Grissom after injuring his shoulder in a slide on his seventh-inning double. He scored the tie-breaking run on Don Mueller's single. Gomez gave up only a third inning single to Wally Post, but a walk, hit-batsman and two flies scored for Cincy in the fourth. Stan Palys pinched a single off Grissom.

Rookie Charley Peete's fly ball fell for an RBI triple in the Cards' two-run second against loser Ron Kline. Stan Musial smacked a two-run triple in the seventh. Willard Schmidt won his fifth with a six-hitter.

Jones' grand-slam overhauled a 6-4 Cub lead and gave Robin Roberts his 12th victory in relief. Stan Lopata, 3-for-4, drove in three Phil runs.

THE INDIANS made it two straight over the Yankees with Al Smith's two doubles and Vic Wertz' single and grounder getting all the runs home for Tommy Byrne's second defeat. Hank Bauer's home run spoiled Lemon's shutout, but he kept Mickey Mantle hitless against the Tribe for the first time this season.

William's 10th homer came with two on in the first and Jensen's 12th came with one on in the sixth for Tom Brewer's 15th victory. Paul Foytack lost it.

Al Pilarcik drove in three runs, homering for two, for the A's first home victory over Baltimore this season.

Whitey Herzog's double drove in the winning run for Washington and Chuck Stobbs. Jim Wilson lost it.

Mitchell, 35, was the guy who gave Brooklyn a 2-1 edge in the Ebbets Field series which ends today, chopping a pinch RBI single in his first appearance since being picked up by the Dodgers from the Cleveland Indians.

THE DEFEAT left the Braves with a two-game lead as runnerup Cincinnati dropped a 3-1 decision to New York. The Redlegs, who figured to get fat on the last place Giants while Milwaukee and Brooklyn were staging their brawl, had just two singles off Ruben Gomez and Marv Grissom.

St. Louis sent Pittsburgh to a seventh straight defeat, 4-1. And a grand-slammer by Willie Jones gave Philadelphia a 10-8 victory over Chicago's Cubs.

In the American, Bob Lemon gained his 14th victory with a six-hitter, stopping New York 5-1 as second place Cleveland cut the Yankees' runaway lead to eight games.

Home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen gave Boston a 5-4 victory over Detroit. Kansas City defeated Baltimore 9-4. Four runs in the 10th handed Washington a 6-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

BROOKLYN, with cries that Burdette was throwing spitters, got to the righthander for the payoff run in the eighth. Jackie Robinson singled, took an extra base on Bobby Thomson's bobble, went to third on a sacrifice and hightailed it home as Mitchell beat out his bouncer to third. Duke Snider, who was 0-for-13, homered for the first Brook run, taking the NL home run lead with 26.

Three singles chased ex-Giant Maglie in the seventh. Clem Labine came on to win his ninth, although the Braves tied it on Roy Campanella's error before he got out of the inning. Labine fixed an 0-for-4 collar on Joe Adcock in the eighth—snapping the belter's string of 10 home runs in nine straight games with the Dodgers.

USTA Refuses State Rulings

Albany, Aug. 2 (AP)—The New York District Board of the U. S. Trotting Assn, (USTA) has refused for a fourth time to recognize a penalty handed out under a State Harness Racing Commission rule that the board says is "impractical."

The board announced yesterday that it had cleared driver Levi Harner of Bloomsburg, Pa., who had been fined $250 by judges at Buffalo Raceway, Hamburg.

THE JUDGES said Harner had violated a commission rule forbidding drivers to "cause any horse or field of horses to excessively slow down their speed."

The USTA board last month refused to record violations on the licenses of three drivers who had been suspended under the same rule for three days by state judges at Vernon Downs. The USTA licenses harness drivers.

Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan said after the board acted in July that the USTA unit was "a kangaroo court with absolutely no status in the state of New York."

Dairymen Check Kids 4-1 for Tenth Victory

Red Hinkley Yields 6 Hits, Gatti Homers

Jones Dairy added some window dressing to its 1956 City Baseball League pennant, with a 4-1 victory over the Saugerties Whiz Kids, yesterday at the Athletic Field.

The triumph was the 10th in 11 decisions for the Joneses and Bruce "Red" Hinkley, the only Jones flinger charged with a loss this season, squared his record at 1-1.

HINKLEY permitted six hits, struck out the same number and lost his shutout in the second inning. Vic Vassal walked, Dick Zielman singled and Don McCaig hit a long sacrifice fly for the only Whiz Kid threat of the day.

The Dairymen used five hits with commendable economy against Jim Medlock and Joe Benjamin Jr.

One of the Jones blows was Phil Gatti's two-run homer in the second inning. It came on the heels of a walk to Ronnie Ashdown and was enough to pin the defeat on Benjamin.

RONNIE Ashdown's double, an infield single by Gatti and Tom Carlino's sacrifice fly netted a Jones marker in the fifth.

Gatti led the winners with his homer and single. Benjamin slapped a couple of singles for the Kids and Don McCaig had a double.

Nadler Motors (4-5) and Dobler Beer (3-7) meet in today's game.

One of the most heartwarming stories to come out of Little League baseball this season is that of Mrs. Vincent Crantz of Hurley.

In order to fill you in on the backdrop of the story, you recall that the Hurley small fry circuit was organized late this spring.

One of the prime movers in the project was Allen Vogt, a well known City League and area baseball player who was then employed by The Daily Freeman.

Vogt and a group of willing workers set up the league and Allan dutifully delivered the morning report to the sports department. Then came new employment for Vogt and he no longer could take care of the daily scores.

For several days there was no news out of the Hurley Little League, but games were being played.

Then along came Mrs. Crantz, who has a son playing with the Dodgers in the Hurley League. At first she didn't even have an official boxscore form and reported the results on plain stationery. She was supplied with a batch of scoresheets and she hasn't missed reporting a game since. She drives from Hurley to the Freeman sports department every morning and she's always there by 9 a. m.

There may be other mothers more devoted to the Little League cause around the country, but we'll take Mrs. Crantz until that other lady is discovered. She has earned a measure of gratitude from the Hurley Little League officials, players and parents and we hope that the Little League brass from Commissioner Vernon J. Kelder, Harold Anderson down to the smallest small fry will in some concrete manner make known their appreciation of her work.

In these troubled days for Little League, when many parents are either too busy or too indifferent to ever attend LL games . . . and officials cannot be bothered with reporting LL scores, Mrs. Crantz stands out as a refreshing personality.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Monty Stickles, the all-all Poughkeepsie High School athletic great, was reported headed for Colgate University, but George Palmateer says he spent a few days at Notre Dame. . . . Soaking up culture, no doubt. Brooklyn Dodger Rookies have announced their 19-man 1956 roster, playing under the guidance of Arthur Dede and A. B. (Turk) Karam. The makeup of the squad: Pitchers—Kenneth Allen, Massapequa, L. I.; William Booth, Scotch Plains, N. J.; C. P. Chierichella, Brooklyn; Ray Geiser, Woodbridge, N. J.; Bob Swenson, Merrick, L. I.; Bill Williams, Sayville, L. I.; catchers—George Dempster, East Meadows, L. I.; John Orsino, Fort Lee, N. J.; Phil Rogers, Patchogue, L. I.; infielders—Bob Aspromonte, Brooklyn; Bob Fioresi, Springfield Gardens, L. I.; Bill MacDonald, Malverne, L. I.; Ralph Maru, Tarrytown; Ray Newman, Perth Amboy, N. J.; John Salerno, Bronx; outfielders—Lou Hilton, Lawrence, L. I.; Gary Krupsky, Astoria, N. Y.; Harold Nicholas, Hohokus, N. J. It's a curious coincidence but there isn't a single player outside the metropolitan district on the team,

• Strictly Percentages:

A recent survey revealed that 60 per cent of the bowlers in the country either fish or golf in the off season. In Kingston, the percentage runs higher toward fishing. Other interesting facts about bowlers in general:

Bowlers as a group have been participating at kegling for an average of 18 years.

The average bowler, the statistics further prove, is not as a rule a tall man. The norm for the entire field is 5 feet, nine inches and the weight is on the average of 176 pounds—a bit on the beefy side.

From the family viewpoint, the figures are interesting too. Ninety per cent of the eligible bowlers are married and 65 per cent have children.

Ninety per cent of the field is salaried. Apparently, the average bowler is too busy with his sport to devote his time to the endless details of business. Thirty per cent of the self-employed keglers are in the bowling business in some capacity or other.

Figures prove that age, height or weight is no barrier for a perfect game. While a hole-in-one may be an accident at times, a 300 game in bowling just isn't.

There is plenty of room of argument on the last statistic. But, by and large, a 300 game in bowling is a more solid sports achievement than a hole-in-one in golf.

But don't let that keep you away from our hole-in-one tournament Sunday at Woodstock.

The undefeated Indians scalped the Braves, 18 to 3, for their fourth straight victory yesterday in the National Little League.

It was the 13th straight triumph for the Indians, who have not been beaten in LL competition this season.

LARRY MARCUS and Len Mills combined to pitch a 4-hitter against the Braves. Marcus was credited with the victory.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—A Canadian-Buffalo, N. Y., team last night won the National mixed team championship in the 28th annual summer festival of the American Contract Bridge League.

The titlists won over 114 teams during four sessions of play, but pulled through to victory only one-half match ahead of a New York city-Miami, Fla., team.

The championship aggregation was made up of Douglas Drury, Mrs. Arthur Bowden and Eric Murray, all of Toronto, Can., and Mrs. Ralph W. Gordon and Robert Freedman, both of Buffalo.

Runnerup was the team consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Stone of New York, and Waldemar Von Vedtwitz and Mrs. Barbara Brier of Miami Beach.

Gallo Pitches One-Hitter for Legion Tossers

The American Legion blanked the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, 10-0, and the Elks shaded the VFW, 8-7, in a Fraternal Youth League doubleheader last night at Dietz Stadium.

The Legion win was its fourth straight and moved them into a tie for first place with the Volunteer Firemen. The clubs meet Friday night in the first showdown battle of the season.

The Elks' success was its third as against as many losses and placed it into a deadlock for fourth with the Knights of Columbus.

TONY GALLO pitched a snappy one-hitter against the Police who three times this season have been held hitless. Only a second inning double by Gary Barnes prevented the KPA from suffering another no-hitter.

George Uhl, with a home run, triple and single, sparked the Legions offensive. The rangy first sacker drove in three runs and scored another trio himself.

Charlie Williams blasted a solo homer and scored twice. George's brother Joe had two singles and a pair of RBIs.

EMORY LE MAY was the victim of the onslaught. He dueled Gallo beautifully for five rounds and only trailed 2-0. But in the sixth, the Legion broke loose for five runs to put the game out of reach. Uhl's circuit came with two aboard and accounted for the Legion's final tallies.

Gallo struck out eight and walked three. He faced 25 batters and permitted no runner past second safely.

The Elks-Vets duel was perhaps the most exciting game of the season. The Elks snapped a 4-all tie in the last inning with a cluster of four, but got a terrible scare before the fireworks were over as the VFW bounced back for three on a homer by Jerry McDonnough with two aboard to only fall one run short of tying.

In fact, the Vets had the tying and winning runs on the bases before reliefer George Kidd choked off a rally by getting Joe DeCiccio on a pop. The heartbreaking defeat was the fourth for the winless VFW.

The Elks' winning margin came on triples by Harry Lowe and Dan Van Wagenen, and Jerry Sampson's double, coupled with a walk and Don Kruszenski's two-run producing baseknock.

Schatzel then got opposing hurler Paul Gardner for the second out and appeared out of danger. A throwing error on Charlie McDonald's ground ball kept the Vets breathing and when Schatzel passed Guy Tirums he was yanked. Kidd then got the final out with McDonald perched on third base.

Gardner pitched commendable ball after taking over from starter Tom Daley in the second. He started a brisk double play after arriving on the scene to get his mates out of a serious jam. The score at that time read 3-0 for the Elks.

THE VETS knotted the count in the third with the help of only one hit—McDonald's two-run single. A couple of passes and an error set the stage for the scoring.

Both teams tallied in the fifth, the Elks' run being unearned. Gardner drove in his club's marker with a hit that scored Bradford, who had also singled, from second.

Action continues tonight with the K of C facing the Rotary. Friday another twin bill is on tap. The Legion-Vols argument is the feature attraction at 8:45. The Elks are pitted against the Kiwanis in the curtain-raiser. Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Rotary takes on the KPA.

Chicago Skipper Olympic Racer

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 2 (AP)—H. P. Williams of Chicago is the winner of the Olympic star boat five-race series here and will represent Uncle Sam in the sport at the Olympic games.

Williams of the Southern Lake Michigan fleet finished fourth in the final race in Sandy Hook Bay yesterday, sailing home with a 36 point total for the series.

He edged James M. Schoonmaker of Fishers Island, N. Y., and E. W. Etchells, of Central Long Island Sound, who tied for second with 35 points each.

Etchells won both the fourth and fifth races of the series and placed second in the third, but his poor showing in the first two races sank his victory effort.

The series began Sunday. Harry Nye, of Chicago, led the first two days but was fifth in the final count.

Three-Team Race Looms in Eastern

(By The Associated Press)

The pennant picture in the Eastern League today depicts a three-team race with Schenectady, Binghamton and defending-champion Reading scrambling for the top.

While Binghamton and Schenectady were knocking heads in splitting a double header last night in Binghamton, Reading was gaining valuable ground and a little revenge in winning a pair from the seventh-place Johnstown.

Williamsport eked out a 2-1 victory over Allentown and last-place Syracuse downed visiting Albany, 6-4.

SCHNECTADY'S Blue Jays were in first place for a short spell last night after winning the seventh-inning opener of the double bill, 8-2. But possession was short-lived as the Triplets regained the top spot on a 3-2 triumph in the nightcap.

The second game was a replay of Tuesday night's game which was called after 15 innings with the score 2-2.

Two Reading pitchers threw shutouts at the Johnnies to move their club to within a game and a half of first place. The victory also evened things for the Indians who had dropped two to the visitors the night before.

Vic Lapiner won his 12th in- limiting the Johnnies to three hits in the opener,3-0. Bobby Locke gave up six hits in the second game but fanned nine batters in earning the 2-0 win.

Lincolns made 11 hits off Andy Murphy and Tom Rizzi, including three singles by Bigler. Don Simmons also hit a pair of singletons and Leininger added a solo swat to his triple.

Lightning Kills Three

Nogales, Mexico, Aug. 2 (AP)—Five persons, three of them children, were killed by lightning yesterday on a family outing. The party was gathering acorns in a field about 15 miles south of this border city when a storm came up. They reportedly took shelter under a tree. The lightning bolt struck, killing five and injuring six more. The dead were Rasaura Ruiz, 4; Guadalupe Rico, 6; Auraro Ruiz Altamirano, 11, Ramona Altamirano, 18, and Rosa Altamirano, 21.

Carter Emerges New Threat in Heavy Ranks

Syracuse, Aug. 2 (AP)—If Archie Moore doesn't manage to get into a title ring with Floyd Patterson next month, he'll find a sturdy 22-year-old fellow named Harold Carter itching to take him on.

And, judging from what Carter did to the veteran Bob Satterfield in their nationally televised fight last night, Moore will find his hands full.

"I want to be heavyweight champion, that's my goal," the Linden, N. J., youth beamed after he stopped Satterfield in the fifth round.

Carter won the first four rounds on all cards then put Satterfield down twice in the fifth. As Bob began to slump along the ropes the third time, referee Teddy Martin waved his hands to end it.

Almost from the start, Satterfield was hanging on to avoid Carter's sharp and flicking left jabs and combinations to the body. Carter's record now is 19 wins, 2 loses and 2 draws.

Adlai Questions Ave's Exclusive 'Fair Deal' Hold

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says Gov. Averell Harriman has no "exclusive use" of the "new deal-fair deal" banner.

A newsman asked Stevenson yesterday about a recent statement by Harriman that he was the logical new deal candidate.

STEVENSON REPLIED: "I protest Gov. Harriman's exclusive use of this honor, and wish to ask Gov. Harriman whom Mrs. Roosevelt is supporting."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the new deal president's widow, long ago announced her support of Stevenson for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Mrs. Roosevelt was among 131 persons who attended a fund-raising dinner in Stevenson's behalf last night. He came here for the dinner, a closed affair at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Stevenson said yesterday there are many satisfactory Democratic candidates for Vice-President and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennesee "is certainly among those candidates."

STEVENSON MADE the statement in answer to newsmen's questions about his preference of a running mate if he won the Presidential nomination.

Asked if he had any preference of a running mate, Stevenson said: If I had such a preference, I would not express it to this audience."

New Weapons Are Urged for Forces In Korea Area

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 2 (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford said today UN forces in Korea "cannot go on forever using 1950 model weapons."

"I don't see how we can keep from modernizing our weapons here much longer," the chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff told reporters. "We cannot even supply them much longer."

Modern armaments conceivably could include atomic weapons, Radford said, but he added that he had heard nothing about sending nuclear weapons to South Korea.

Radford, who is on a Far East tour, flew here from Taipei, Formosa, for a 21-hour visit. After conferences with South Korean and U. S. officials, he will go on to Tokyo.

Radford said there was no time-table for revising Korean truce terms which have barred introduction of new weapons since July, 1953.

AT THE DIAPER DERBY, THEY'RE OFF!—Breaking from the starting gate, tiny tots race out in the 18th annual "world championship" baby crawling contest at Palisades Park, N.J. A number of toys, drawn in front of the babies, were used to add to the speed of the competition. This year's winner was the "Jersey Jet," 11-month-old Robert Obringer, from North Bergen, N.J. The new champ covered the 60-foot course in 27.6 seconds. Robert won't be able to defend his crown next year, however, for he'll have outgrown the crawling stage.

Milk Report Not

said this was not true.

Pierce was questioned about a statement in his recent report that some suggestions in it were based on "political compromise."

The professor said this phrase did not indicate any influence by organized political groups or parties. The phrase, he said, referred to the fact that consideration must be given to the opinions of various interested groups, and that a marketing order needs the support of such groups to be a success in operation.

Winton said at the hearing that the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the New Jersey office of milk industry had reached an agreement, and he moved that it be made public. He said the basic decisions he contended had already been reached made the current hearing largely a "gesture."

G. Osmond Hyde, U. S. agriculture department hearing examiner, denied Winton's motion.

At several points in the cross-examination of Pierce, Winton sought to support his contention that the proposed New Jersey marketing order would mean higher prices to producers supplying northern New Jersey and would create dissatisfaction among other producers.

Winton said that in Tioga county, N. Y., some producers are approved for New Jersey and others for New York. He wanted to know how long these producers would accept a different rate of return.

Pierce was also cross-examined by Winton about a provision in the proposed New Jersey plan which would require milk plants to ship 60 per cent of their product to the northern New Jersey market in order to qualify under the plan.

Winton said that, for example, in Hammond, N. Y., there is only one plant approved for the New Jersey market. He said that if this plant could not find enough New Jersey customers to ship 60 per cent of its product to that state, the effect would be to keep the producers from serving a market they have traditionally served.

Pierce replied that if the plant did not ship 60 per cent of its product to northern New Jersey, it would not be qualified to serve that area.

Britain, France

of the canal, and also the 1954 treaty with Britain which recognized its international status. In the 1954 treaty Britain agreed to withdraw her military forces from the Suez Canal zone.

Eden also expressed doubt that Egypt would be able to carry on expansion work along the canal in the next 10 or 15 years if Nasser pursues his announced plans to divert the canal revenues to build his Aswan dam. And he was skeptical of Nasser's promises to maintain navigation rights for all nations and to compensate canal company stockholders.

"IN VIEW OF Col. Nasser's record about some other promises, how is it going to be done?" Eden asked.

"'As the world is today and as it is likely to be for some time to come, the industrial life of western Europe literally depends upon the continued free navigation of the canal.

"Is it possible for us to believe the word of the present Egyptian government to the extent of leaving it (the canal) in their power?

"I truly think we have done everything in our power by our actions, by our treaty, to show our good will. And our reward has been broken faith and broken promises. We have been subjected to a ceaseless barrage of propaganda. This has been accompanied by attempts at subversion in British territories.

"COL. NASSER'S action (in nationalizing the canal) indicated the nature of the regime with which we had to deal."

Referring to the principle of free navigation without discrimination contained in the 1888 pact, he said it was for this principle that we are working in our negotiations with other powers deeply concerned and nothing less can be acceptable to us."

This principle he added, "has been observed by the western allies in two World Wars.

The British-Egyptian treaty of 1954, he continued, recognized that the canal was a "waterway, economically, commercially and strategically of international importance."

"How can this be reconciled," he asked, "with the Egyptian government's action against the Suez Canal Company?"

Report 15 Rebels Slain

Algiers, Algeria, Aug. 2 (AP)—Unofficial sources said today French troops killed 15 rebels and took several prisoners in a clash with a rebel band blamed for recent sabotage on the Algiers-Oran rail line. Seven additional rebels were reported slain in other actions. The number of rebel casualties was reported by Algiers newspapers.

Traffic will be maintained during construction which will be under the supervision of George L. Nickerson, district state engineer.

Ave Supporters Say Survey Shows Gain on Adlai

(By The Associated Press)

Supporters of Gov. Averell Harriman maintained today their entry in the Democratic presidential nomination race is gathering speed and threatening to catch front-running Adlai Stevenson.

THE STEVENSON camp disputes that, and a preliminary survey by the Associated Press showed Stevenson still leads Harriman in convention delegates, willing to indicate first ballot preferences, 430½ to 160.

The survey is based in part on the effect of the withdrawal from contention of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. In the convention starting at Chicago a week from Monday, it will take 686½ votes to win.

The claim of swelling Harriman support came from Frank McKinney, former Democratic National chairman and a booster of the New York governor.

McKinney said at Chicago last night that Harriman "has picked up 90 to 100 votes" since Kefauver withdrew.

THAT, SAID McKinney, means Harriman will have "in the neighborhood of 450 votes" out of a total of 1,372 when the convention opens. Stevenson, he said, will have "something short of 500."

McKinney's view drew complete agreement from Democratic National Committeeman Carmen DeSapio of New York, another Harriman manager.

But Stevenson backers — including Kefauver himself—took an entirely different slant on the question of which way Kefauver delegates will turn.

Conceding that "some" of his delegates may switch to Harriman, the senator said the "big majority" will go along with Stevenson. According to an AP survey, Kefauver had 164 indicated votes before he pulled out of the race.

Captain, Crew Decorated

Le Havre, France, Aug. 2 (AP)—The ocean liner Ile de France, her captain and 130 members of her crew were decorated today for rescuing passengers of the Andrea Doria after her collision with the Stockholm last week. Roger Duveau, undersecretary of state for the French Merchant Marine, awarded the ship the "Order of Maritime Merit." It was the first time in history that a ship had been so honored. Duveau pinned the decoration on a cushion held by a 15-year-old ship's boy, Jean-Pierre Guillou, one of the Ile de France crew members who took part in the rescue work.

TWO IN HOSPITAL—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petersen, about 60, of Brooklyn, suffered injuries at 4 p. m. Wednesday when their car, operated by Mr. Petersen, went out of control on Route 28A near the Traver Hollow bridge, West Shokan, according to Trooper Joseph Ellsworth of the Phoenicia state police. Mr. Petersen was reported fair and Mrs. Petersen good by Benedictine Hospital authorities. Mr. Petersen suffered a severe laceration of the forehead, lacerations of the right arm and both knees and multiple lacerations of the face. Mrs. Petersen suffered a broken right wrist, multiple abrasions and contusions of the face and arms. They were taken to the hospital by Gormley Ambulance, Phoenicia. Trooper Ellsworth said Mr. Petersen was traveling in a southerly direction, negotiating an S-turn, when the car went off the right side of the road, traveling about 70 feet along the west bank, crossed over the road to the east side, proceeding for approximately 60 feet, striking an embankment, turning over on its right side and skidding about 40 feet through a fence and striking a tree. Stassen Predicts a telephone hadn't even been installed at the time of Stassen's appearance. Baker said some 150 youthful volunteers in this area would take turns staffing the offce.

Stassen said the progress of the drive to "draft" Herter would depend in part on the contributions which come in.

"We are short of money," he said, but added that donations so far have ranged from $1 to an unsolicited $250. He did not give any total.

Stassen also said a public opinion poll on the vice presidential nominee was started Monday by a professional polling organization in New York.

SCHOEPPEL AND Simpson took a widely different view from Stassen as to the significance of Eisenhower's giving Stassen a leave of absence and the interpretation to be placed on the President's remarks about the GOP convention being "open."

Schoeppel, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee and Simpson, chairman of the GOP congressional committee, said Stassen "has been benched and has apparantly withdrawn from the team."

At his news conference yesterday, Eisenhower praised Nixon—as he has done before—but he refused to be pinned down on whether others, including Herter, would be acceptable to him as possible running mates. He said the Republican National Convention in San Francisco later this month will be "open" to anybody who wants to seek the vice presidential nomination.

HE ALSO PRAISED Stassen for "a splendid job" as his disarmament aide, saying Stassen will be welcome back at his White House post after his leave expires.

Stassen said he interpreted Eisenhower's news conference remarks as a go-ahead for his plans to try and put across Herter's nomination.

Stassen has indicated he expects to return to the disarmament job and that he sought the furlough to emphasize that his pro-Herter drive is a personal project unconnected with the White House. By the time the 30 days are up, the GOP convention will have made its candidate choices.

Schoeppel and Simpson predicted that Nixon—whom they described as "exceptional" and "trial tested"—will be renominated "by acclamation on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention despite the irresponsible actions of Harold E. Stassen."

They asserted further that "the rank and file members of the Republican party have become disgusted with Stassen's antics."

Puller Thinks

back in the witness chair and said:

"Well, the main thing I learned . . . I was taught the definition of esprit de corps. My definition is that it means love of one's own military legion. It means more than self preservation, religion or patriotism. I also learned that loyalty travels both ways, up and down."

Berman asked the general what he thought was the mission of the Marine Corps.

"My definition is the same definition Gen. Von Steuben wrote for George Washington, 'Success in Battle.'" (Von Steuben was a German adventurer who became drill master for the Continental Army.)

"That is the only object."

Berman then asked, "what is the most important element of training?"

Growled Puller, "I'll quote Napoleon. The most important thing is discipline. Without discipline an Army becomes a mob."

Puller, like Pate, said he did not consider the night march led by McKeon as oppression of recruits and added that drill instructors had a wide latitude in training and teaching discipline.

Mitchell Faces Opposition in Move for Votes

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell has put forward a series of Republican party platform proposals aimed at attracting more votes from workers. But Mitchell's proposals have aroused some business opposition.

This comes at a time when Mitchell is receiving plaudits from union and business quarters for a successful behind scenes role in helping engineer an amicable settlement of the steel strike.

When the steel talks bogged down, Mitchell and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey teamed up to get the steel industry and union back into bargaining sessions. This quiet intervention, it is felt, may have improved the Eisenhower administration's standing with organized labor, or at least with some of its leaders.

Informants said Mitchell would like to see this followed up with some Republican platform planks written to attract workers and unions. The idea is that if union's won't formally support the GOP, they might be dissuaded from endorsing the Democratic cause, as most did in 1952.

Mitchell, like other cabinet members, has advanced platform suggestions in private, but none have been made public.
